Bill To Ban Common Law Marriages In Ohio Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Democratic sponsor of a bill to outlaw common law marriages in Ohio is preparing an amendment to satisfy Republican objections.

The bill to void common law marriages entered into after Jan. 1, 1970, ran into trouble on the Ohio Senate floor Wednesday and debate was suspended.

It went back to the Rules Committee and will be brought up later.

The trouble came after the defeat of an amendment to take out a section of the bill allowing illegitimate children to inherit through their father.

At present, illegitimate children can only inherit through their mother unless there is proof they were born out of a common law marriage.

One of the bill's sponsors, Rep. William B. Nye, D-28, Akron, later explained that "some people feel there will be too many fraudulent claims" by persons who say they are the illegitimate child of a deceased man and therefore should share in his estate.

Nye said he has asked the Legislative Service Commission to prepare language to satisfy the objections by requiring the illegitimate child to have substantial proof that the deceased is his father.

Senate Democrats again attacked the way the state's finances are managed by the administration of Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Sen. William B. Nye, D-28 Akron, was the main sponsor of a resolution urging Rhodes to authorize an immediate, independent public audit of the state's finances.

"Ohio's general revenue has passed $2.5 billion, sales tax revenue is up 20 per cent and revenue from other taxes is up nearly 14 per cent," Nye said in a news release. "Yet, the Republican administration wants us to consider new taxes without knowledge of the state's real financial condition."

The resolution was sent to the Republican controlled Senate Rules Committee where it is expected to remain for the rest of the session.

In other action, the Senate adopted and sent to the House 28-4 a bill to shorten, simplify and reduce the cost of the administration of estates.

Sen. William W. Taft, R-26 Cleveland, the bill's main sponsor, said it is the product of a two-year study of Ohio probate laws by the State Bar Association.

Taft said the bill is an attempt by lawyers to police themselves and reduce the high cost of settling estates.

The Senate passed and sent to the House 31-0 vote a bill to sell school and ministerial lands that Ohio has held since North-west Territory days.

Barge Is Sunk To Block More Leakage Of Oil

ALMA, Wis. (AP) — A barge that leaked thousands of gallons of oil into the upper Mississippi River has been partially flooded, preventing further spillage.

The craft was turned into the current Wednesday so water could seep into four damaged compartments and thus trap the remaining oil in the upper part of the areas.

The move was made Wednesday after the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources ordered barge Capt. Chester Forkum to halt the leaking.

He said about 64,000 gallons of No. 2 fuel oil seeped from the compartments in a collision with the wing dam Monday.

Political Storm Over Knowles Job Continues

Top Health Post Still Not Filled Due To Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although Welfare Secretary Robert H. Finch is sunning himself in the Caribbean he remains at the eye of a political storm that is raising questions—particularly on Capitol Hill—about his relationship with President Nixon.

The crux of the problem: The longstanding vacancy in the job of assistant secretary for health and scientific affairs in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare—the top federal health post.

Finch wants Dr. John H. Knowles, director of the Massachusetts General Hospital, and has said so.

And the White House has indicated several times that the choice is entirely up to Finch.

But five months after Finch offered Knowles the job and Knowles accepted, nobody has been nominated because Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen (Continued on Page 2)

Agnew Says Nixon Friend Of U.S. Cities

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has moved to convince the nation's big city mayors that the Nixon administration is their ally in the fight to save America's troubled cities.

And after addressing the closing session of the U.S. Conference of Mayors Wednesday, Agnew seemed convinced he had at least reduced concern that the cities would be upstaged by the states in the Republican administration's domestic programming.

"I think there was fear that state governments would be given the ball and allowed to run with it," Agnew told a news conference. "I think we've properly allayed that fear."

The former Maryland governor conceded that problems remained, including the problem of communicating with city halls, manned by Democrats in most major cities.

"I find it easier to communicate with the governors at the moment," said Agnew, who is President Nixon's liaison man with state, county and local governments.

The mayors, Republicans as well as Democrats, were particularly concerned over the way states have been distributing federal funds under the 1968 Safe Streets Act—the omnibus crime bill.

"I unequivocally state to you today that any revenue sharing plan must provide a fair share to the cities and the urban counties," Agnew told the mayors midway through his speech. He was interrupted by applause for the first and only time.

Girl Coaxed Down From Stadium Top

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A 13-year-old girl was coaxed from the top of Ohio Stadium on the Ohio State University campus Wednesday after she threatened to jump.

University officials said the girl had been a patient at Up-ham Hall, a treatment center for emotionally disturbed persons, since May 5.

Referendums Hit By High Court

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court has ruled that referendum petitions are invalid if signatures do not include the person's ward and precinct.

The ruling prohibits the Cuyahoga County Board of Elections from validating petitions which called for a November referendum on the county commissioners decision to adopt a one-half per cent sales and use tax.

Commissioners Frank Pokorny and Hugh Corrigan said the tax will go into effect Aug. 1 unless the case is appealed to the federal courts. The new tax would raise about $12-$15 million yearly.

The tax had been adopted under a measure approved by the Ohio Legislature two years ago. Opponents, led by former U.S. Rep. Robert E. Sweeney, had collected about 76,000 signatures although only 47,000 were needed to force the referendum.

The court's ruling invalidated about 66,000 of the signatures. It is not known what affect the ruling will have on similar referendums on the sales and use tax in Hamilton and Franklin counties.

"I will strongly recommend an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court," said Gerald A. Donahue, a Columbus attorney representing the majority members of the Cuyahoga County Board of Elections who had approved the signatures.

Donahue said if an appeal is made, he will seek an injunction to keep the tax from going into effect.

"It seems to me this would be an interesting decision to have the U.S. Supreme Court review," Sweeney said. "It appears to disenfranchise 80,000 citizens of Cuyahoga County on a vital tax issue."

While the court did not specifically say who had to sign the ward and precinct to the petition, the Ohio code says:

"Each signer of any such referendum petition . . . shall place on such petition after his name, the date of signing, his place of residence, if any, including street and number, if any, and the ward and precinct, if any."

A referendum on the "piggyback" sales tax has been placed on the November ballot in Hamilton County. There was some question whether some petitioners had written their own ward and precinct, but the signatures were validated by the county auditor.

Franklin County Commissioners adopted the sales and use tax last March, but before it became effective, opponents, led by the county automobile dealers association, collected enough signatures to force a referendum.

The validity of the signatures were questioned by some groups in Franklin County and Commissioner Harold M. Cooper said he felt some of the signatures now may be challenged.

Says Saigon Not Moving Toward Peace

NEW YORK (AP) — Clark M. Clifford says that in view of changes in the world situation, the United States can and should reduce the fighting in Vietnam and, by the end of 1970, withdraw all ground combat troops.

Clifford served President Lyndon B. Johnson through 1968 as secretary of defense. His statement, at times scorchingly critical of the Saigon government, argues that the basic U.S. objective—to keep the Communist North from seizing the South—has been largely accomplished.

He says he contended while in office that "the more we continued to do in South Vietnam, the less likely the South Vietnamese were to shoulder their own burden."

"Nothing we might do could be so beneficial or could so add to the political maturity of South Vietnam as to begin to withdraw our combat troops," he writes in the current Foreign Affairs, quarterly of the Council on Foreign Relations. "Moreover, in my opinion we cannot realistically expect to achieve anything more through our military force, and the time has come to begin to disengage. That was my final conclusion as I left the Pentagon on Jan. 20, 1969."

"It remains my firm opinion today. It is based not only on my personal experiences, but on many significant changes that have occurred in the world situation in the last four years."

Four years ago Clifford was regarded as a hawk because he had opposed the pause in the bombing of North Vietnam in late 1965. Later he was said to have persuaded Johnson to seek negotiations through a bombing halt.

Agricultural Hall Of Fame Names 14

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The names of 14 Ohioans are being added to the 1969 Ohio Agricultural Hall of Fame, the Ohio Agricultural Council has announced.

The judging committee of the council submitted these selections:

These deceased were named for posthumous awards:

Ruetsch, Cuyahoga County; and Arthur L. Smith, L. A. Kauffman, Charles Plunk, F. G. Ketter and Murray D. Lincoln, all of Franklin County, and Howard J. Ziegler, of near Clyde.

These 14 new members join the 20 prior recipients named since 1955 when the program began.

Muskie Says Nixon Should Call For Viet Cease-Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie has urged President Nixon to take a new initiative toward ending the Vietnam war by proposing a cease-fire.

The Maine Democrat said in an interview though he supports peace efforts being made by the President, the time has come for a fresh approach.

Additionally, the 1968 vice presidential nominee said, a proposal by former Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford to withdraw 100,000 troops this year from Vietnam "would show that we are really serious about negotiations."

But Muskie said, "I think the President should propose a cease-fire. It would involve some risks, of course, but if we are ever going to end the war we will have to take risks."

"Each side would regard it risky to stop fighting. The Viet Cong would be likely to regard it as diminishing its influence in any settlement and Saigon might think it would downgrade its political position.

"But if the President offered a cease-fire, it would put the monkey on the backs of the Communists and might prod them to move forward in the Paris talks."

Muskie said the withdrawal of 25,000 American troops seems to have had little or no effect on Hanoi's intransigence at Paris. But he added that he is not arm-chair general and it is difficult to know how many troops could be pulled out under present conditions.

Muskie conceded search and destroy missions might be necessary to hold down casualties sustained by U.S. troops if they fought only on the defensive. However, he said what he is interested in is holding fighting to a level that will not dilute the credibility of American peace overtures.

No Bargain With Powell, House Leadership Decides

WASHINGTON (AP) — House leaders hope to avoid a possibly embarrassing court test by convincing Adam Clayton Powell not to fight for $55,000 in back pay, but they have made it clear there will be no bargaining with the Harlem Democrat.

The leaders, Democrats alike, are concerned a court decision favoring Powell would produce the uninspiring spectacle of Congress defying the law by refusing to pay him.

In its decision Monday that Powell was illegally excluded from his seat two years ago, the Supreme court said his claim for back pay would have to be decided by a lower court.

Although eager to avoid a trial and its consequences, the leaders decided at a meeting Wednesday there would be no offers of partial payment, or return of Powell's seniority, or restoration of his chairmanship of the House Education and Labor Committee.

The session was called to discuss the situation and to prepare for a meeting with Powell, who sent word he wanted to talk to Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass. McCormack and the other leaders stayed ready for the confrontation all day, but Powell never showed up.

Powell, at a news conference after his court triumph, indicated he might not press the pay fight. It would be up to his lawyers, he said, and presumably he was meeting with them while the House was huddling with its lawyers Wednesday.

The fact is, if he chooses to fight, there will be retaliatory action to get back some of the money the House charged Powell with misappropriating in refusing to seat him.

A resolution to deduct such sums from Powell's pay has been prepared by Rep. Bob Casey, D-Tex., who said he would introduce it as soon as additional cosponsors have had a chance to sign up.

Trucking Firm Hit By Explosion

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio (AP)—An explosion apparently caused by manufactured gas damaged a garage at a truck firm here today. No one was injured.

Sheriff's deputies estimated damage at $10,000 to $15,000 and said it may have been caused by a leak in a tank of manufactured gas.

Deputies said three doors were blown out of the garage and that the roof was lifted off and later sagged down.

OU President Backs Rhodes Education Plan

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes' new two-year program for financing education in the state got a strong endorsement today from Ohio University President Vernon Alden.

Alden said the package "would make it possible for universities to hold tuition fees at their present levels and would provide more substantial assistance to students from low-income families."

He added that it also would provide money "for essential university classroom and laboratory buildings and for a badly needed vocational and technical education program."

The governor's program about ready for action by the legislature, calls for an additional $250 million to be raised from increases in several state taxes. The bulk of the program's financing, $1.4 billion, would come from existing funds, Alden said.

Patman Eyes Usury Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wright Patman, who has urged government retaliation against banks that recently raised their prime interest rates, says he wants to know administration thinking on the possible need for a national usury law.

Patman's House Banking Committee opened hearings today into the boost of prime interest rates to an all-time high of 8½ per cent with Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy listed as the first witness.

Patman, D-Tex., said in an interview before today's hearings he is not now advocating a federal ceiling on the cost for borrowing money but the possibility must be considered if the rise in interest rates is not checked.

"We are in the grip of the Wall Street banks," said Patman, banking committee chairman. "It is impossible now for the average family to buy a house."

The hearings bring a new confrontation between Patman and Kennedy.

The congressman has insisted Kennedy has a conflict of interest because of continuing ties with the Continental Illinois National Bank of Chicago, which the secretary used to head. Patman says Kennedy should resign as treasury secretary, or be removed from the Cabinet post.

When the interest rate was boosted 10 days ago, Patman reacted by urging strong administration steps to force it back down.

He suggested President Nixon order government deposits withdrawn from banks that went along with the increase, which he sees as leading to a severe recession.

SDS Opens Convention In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — After a loud, argumentative agenda session, delegates to the Students for a Democratic Society national convention have started into four days of workshops.

A Wednesday evening workshop on women's liberation replaced a scheduled education panel on the youth movement and male supremacy.

Commenting on the session, one delegate said, "It was pretty bad. I'm glad members of the press didn't see what was going on."

The press was banned from convention activities.

During the afternoon session newsmen standing in front of the Coliseum could hear repeated chants, shouts and cat-calls coming from inside.

As the session went on, policemen occupied a third-floor room in a school across the street and trained cameras with high-powered lenses on the delegates.

When a reporter knocked on the door to the schoolroom, a man opened the door a crack.

"Sorry," he said, "we can't tell you who we are."

A Board of Education spokesman said the board had given police permission to use the building.

Two reported bomb threats sent patrolmen to the door of the Coliseum.

Several hundred delegates were estimated in attendance.

Tempo Of Vietnam Fighting Stepped Up

SAIGON (AP) — Sharp fighting swirled on three sides of Tay Ninh City today but military spokesmen said allied forces smashed an enemy attempt to overrun the key provincial capital 50 miles northwest of Saigon.

Elsewhere, North Vietnamese commandos blasted their way into a U.S. artillery base in the north; 63 rocket attacks hit allied towns and bases overnight—the highest number of shellings since June 6—and two Viet Cong terrorists assassinated a Saigon city councilman.

The assassination of City

Councilman Van Dien Quang touched off a wild gun battle in the heart of Cholon, Saigon's Chinese quarter. A woman bystander and one of the terrorists were killed; and three women and one man were wounded.

The second gunman escaped on a motor scooter, but was believed wounded by police gunfire.

Tay Ninh City, the capital of Tay Ninh Province which borders Cambodia, was reported threatened by elements of two North Vietnamese divisions. Field reports said about a dozen enemy troops infiltrated the southeastern corner of the city while the enemy battled U.S. and South Vietnamese forces on its northern, eastern and southern approaches.

Enemy gunners also shelled parts of the city and a dozen allied camps and outposts defending it. One rocket slammed into the city jail, killing one prisoner and wounding 60.

Some of the fiercest fighting was reported at Fire Base Washington, about five miles northwest of Tay Ninh, manned by the U.S. 25th Infantry Division. Enemy soldiers believed to be from the Viet Cong's 9th Division got to within 50 yards of the camp perimeter but American artillery blunted the attack.

Field reports said 35 enemy were killed and six prisoners were taken while 14 Americans were wounded.

At Da Nang, Associated Press photographer Rick Merron said 10 elite North Vietnamese commandos trained in demolition penetrated an artillery base 30 miles northwest of South Vietnam's second largest city and hurled satchel charges.

Merron said the commandos moved in behind a barrage of 150 mortar shells that pinned down American paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Division defending Fire Base Tomahawk.

Two paratroopers were killed and 24 wounded. The base sustained serious damage before artillery and helicopter gunships broke up the assault, the U.S. Command said. It added: "Approximately 10 enemy were reported to have penetrated the outer perimeter of the base. In the close-in fighting that ensued, the enemy were either killed or driven out."

Nixon Sets News Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon holds his first Washington news conference in more than two months tonight in an atmosphere of pressure for a larger and faster U.S. troop withdrawal from Vietnam, a quick start to arms control talks and a domestic economic crisis.

The President, who appeared last before reporters here April 18, plans no opening statement, White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler has said, but will go right to the questions.

Among the issues facing Nixon is a demand by former Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford for a total U.S. troop pullback from Vietnam by the end of 1970.

The President also is being prodded to announce a start soon of arms control talks with Moscow and his is under pressure to come up with a solution to the inflation that some administration officials say is threatening the economy.

The 7 p.m. EDT news conference will be telecast and broadcast live by the three major networks.

Political Storm Over Knowles Job Continues

Top Health Post Still Not Filled Due To Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although Welfare Secretary Robert H. Finch is sunning himself in the Caribbean he remains at the eye of a political storm that is raising questions—particularly on Capitol Hill—about his relationship with President Nixon.

The crux of the problem: The longstanding vacancy in the job of assistant secretary for health and scientific affairs in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare—the top federal health post.

Referendums Hit By High Court

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court has ruled that referendum petitions are invalid if signatures do not include the person's ward and precinct.

The ruling prohibits the Cuyahoga County Board of Elections from validating petitions which called for a November referendum on the county commissioners decision to adopt a one-half per cent sales and use tax.

Commissioners Frank Pokorny and Hugh Corrigan said the tax will go into effect Aug. 1 unless the case is appealed to the federal courts. The new tax would raise about $12-$15 million yearly.

The tax had been adopted under a measure approved by the Ohio Legislature two years ago. Opponents, led by former U.S. Rep. Robert E. Sweeney, had collected about 76,000 signatures although only 47,000 were needed to force the referendum.

The court's ruling invalidated about 66,000 of the signatures. It is not known what affect the ruling will have on similar referendums on the sales and use tax in Hamilton and Franklin counties.

"I will strongly recommend an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court," said Gerald A. Donahue, a Columbus attorney representing the majority members of the Cuyahoga County Board of Elections who had approved the signatures.

Donahue said if an appeal is made, he will seek an injunction to keep the tax from going into effect.

"It seems to me this would be an interesting decision to have the U.S. Supreme Court review," Sweeney said. "It appears to disenfranchise 80,000 citizens of Cuyahoga County on a vital tax issue."

A referendum on the "piggy-

back" sales tax has been placed on the November ballot in Hamilton County. There was some question whether some petitioners had written their own ward and precinct, but the signatures were validated by the county auditor.

Franklin County Commissioners adopted the sales and use tax last March, but before it became effective, opponents, led by the county automobile dealers association, collected enough signatures to force a referendum.

The validity of the signatures were questioned by some groups in Franklin County and Commissioner Harold M. Cooper said he felt some of the signatures now may be challenged.

Powell, at a news conference after his court triumph, indicated he might not press the pay fight. It would be up to his lawyers, he said, and presumably he was meeting with them while the House was huddling with its lawyers Wednesday.

The fact is, if he chooses to fight, there will be retaliatory action to get back some of the money the House charged Powell with misappropriating in refusing to seat him.

A resolution to deduct such sums from Powell's pay has been prepared by Rep. Bob Casey, D-Tex., who said he would introduce it as soon as additional cosponsors have had a chance to sign up.

When the interest rate was boosted 10 days ago, Patman reacted by urging strong administration steps to force it back down.

He suggested President Nixon order government deposits withdrawn from banks that went along with the increase, which he sees as leading to a severe recession.

OU President Backs Rhodes Education Plan

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes' new two-year program for financing education in the state got a strong endorsement today from Ohio University President Vernon Alden.

Alden said the package "would make it possible for universities to hold tuition fees at their present levels and would provide more substantial assistance to students from low-income families."

He added that it also would provide money "for essential university classroom and laboratory buildings and for a badly needed vocational and technical education program."

The governor's program about ready for action by the legislature, calls for an additional $250 million to be raised from increases in several state taxes. The bulk of the program's financing, $14 billion, would come from existing funds, Alden said.

Patman Eyes Usury Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wright Patman, who has urged government retaliation against banks that recently raised their prime interest rates, says he wants to know administration thinking on the possible need for a national usury law.

Patman's House Banking Committee opened hearings today into the boost of prime interest rates to an all-time high of 8½ per cent with Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy listed as the first witness.

Patman, D-Tex., said in an interview before today's hearings he is not now advocating a federal ceiling on the cost for borrowing money but the possibility must be considered if the rise in interest rates is not checked.

"We are in the grip of the Wall Street banks," said Patman, banking committee chairman. "It is impossible now for the average family to buy a house."

The hearings bring a new confrontation between Patman and Kennedy.

The congressman has insisted Kennedy has a conflict of interest because of continuing ties with the Continental Illinois National Bank of Chicago, which the secretary used to head. Patman says Kennedy should resign as treasury secretary, or be removed from the Cabinet post.

When the interest rate was boosted 10 days ago, Patman reacted by urging strong administration steps to force it back down.

He suggested President Nixon order government deposits withdrawn from banks that went along with the increase, which he sees as leading to a severe recession.

SDS Opens Convention In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — After a loud, argumentative agenda session, delegates to the Students for a Democratic Society national convention have started into four days of workshops.

A Wednesday evening workshop on women's liberation replaced a scheduled education panel on the youth movement and male supremacy.

Commenting on the session, one delegate said, "It was pretty bad. I'm glad members of the press didn't see what was going on."

The press was banned from convention activities.

During the afternoon session newsmen standing in front of the Coliseum could hear repeated chants, shouts and cat-calls coming from inside.

As the session went on, policemen occupied a third-floor room in a school across the street and trained cameras with high-powered lenses on the delegates.

When a reporter knocked on the door to the schoolroom, a man opened the door a crack. "Sorry," he said, "we can't tell you who we are."

A Board of Education spokesman said the board had given police permission to use the building.

Two reported bomb threats sent patrolmen to the door of the Coliseum.

Several hundred delegates were estimated in attendance.

WE goofed in that we failed to verify information given us in good faith concerning the return of signature petitions to James Locke . . . Seeing the same cars parked there day after day, all day long, indicates that maybe some of the employees are too shiftless to walk from Mount St. or some other nearby location.

Tempo Of Vietnam Fighting Stepped Up

SAIGON (AP) — Sharp fighting swirled on three sides of Tay Ninh City today but military spokesmen said allied forces smashed an enemy attempt to overrun the key provincial capital 50 miles northwest of Saigon.

Elsewhere, North Vietnamese commandos blasted their way into a U.S. artillery base in the north; 63 rocket attacks hit allied towns and bases overnight—the highest number of shellings since June 6—and two Viet Cong terrorists assassinated a Saigon city councilman.

The assassination of City

Councilman Van Dien Quang touched off a wild gun battle in the heart of Cholon, Saigon's Chinese quarter. A woman bystander and one of the terrorists were killed; and three women and one man were wounded. The second gunman escaped on a motor scooter, but was believed wounded by police gunfire.

Tay Ninh City, the capital of Tay Ninh Province which borders Cambodia, was reported threatened by elements of two North Vietnamese divisions. Field reports said about a dozen enemy troops infiltrated the southeastern corner of the city while the enemy battled U.S. and South Vietnamese forces on its northern, eastern and southern approaches.

Enemy gunners also shelled parts of the city and a dozen allied camps and outposts defending it. One rocket slammed into the city jail, killing one prisoner and wounding 60.

Some of the fiercest fighting was reported at Fire Base Washington, about five miles northwest of Tay Ninh, manned by the U.S. 24th Infantry Division. Enemy soldiers believed to be from the Viet Cong's 9th Division got to within 50 yards of the camp perimeter but American artillery blunted the attack.

Field reports said 35 enemy were killed and six prisoners were taken while 14 Americans were wounded.

At Da Nang, Associated Press photographer Rick Merron said 10 elite North Vietnamese commandos trained in demolition penetrated an artillery base 30 miles northwest of South Vietnam's second largest city and hurled satchel charges.

Merron said the commandos moved in behind a barrage of 150 mortar shells that pinned down American paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Division defending Fire Base Tomahawk.

Two paratroopers were killed and 24 wounded. The base sustained serious damage before artillery and helicopter gunships broke up the assault, the U.S. Command said. It added: "Approximately 10 enemy were reported to have penetrated the outer perimeter of the base. In the close-in fighting that ensued, the enemy were either killed or driven out."

SWIM PROGRAM IN SESSION — Red Cross Swim Program got underway this week at Ted Lewis Park. This is the 21st year Red Cross has made this program available to Pickaway County residents. Ohio Easter Seal Camp Has Male Counselor Openings

The Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults has announced the availability of counselor positions for young men interested in rehabilitation, medical or educational fields at Camp Pittenger, near Tiffin, for the summer season which begins July 25 through August 30.

Camp Counselors must be able to lead their campers in the general program and special activities, sports, swimming, dramatics, singing, crafts or nature study. Each counselor will have only four or five boys to supervise and must be prepared to physically manage some of the campers since many are confined to wheel chairs.

The camp is operated by the Ohio Society in conjunction with the Tiffin YMCA and maintains a staff of approximately 30 male and female counselors of college age and experience who have a desire to extend their knowledge and experience in conjunction with their chosen future professions. Approximately 100 children attend the two week sessions and 60 handicapped adults attend the final one week session of the camp period.

Miss Linda Miklas of Youngstown, director of the Easter Seal camp program has announced that the female counselor complement has been filled and the Society is now accepting applications for employment on a substitute basis.

All applications should be directed to the Ohio Society for Crippled Children and Adults, 311 Kendall Place, Columbus, Ohio 43205. In addition to the educational value and experience gained by the participating counselors, individuals will receive food and lodging, transportation expense allowance, health and accident coverage during their employment and a nominal salary for the five week period of camp.

HUD Funds Are Slashed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 19 per cent, $84.3 million cut in new funds for the Department of Housing and Urban Development was recommended today by the House Appropriations Committee.

The $1.65 billion earmarked for HUD in an omnibus $14.9 billion appropriation bill sent to the House for consideration next week reflects deep cuts in funds for model cities and urban renewal programs.

The over-all reduction of $473.1 million represented only a 3 per cent cut from the $15.3 billion requested by President Nixon.

In one major area the committee voted more than Nixon sought, boosting his $7.67 billion request for the Veterans Administration to the $7.7 billion requested earlier by former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Black Panther Dropouts Say Group 'Cult Of Thieves'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first round of Senate hearings into violence in the nation has ended with testimony from two defectors from the Black Panthers party that the black power organization has degenerated into a cult of thieves exploiting the ghetto poor.

The Senate permanent investigations subcommittee listened Wednesday to Larry Clayton Powell and his wife Jean described an organization they said sexually corrupted teenagers, ordered the murder of dissident members and taught small children the art of crime.

Powell, 25, sat in the committee room wearing a solid-black uniform complete with beret, and carrying a copy of the red-covered volume, "The Quotations of Chairman Mao," and calmly described how he became a member of the Panthers' Elite Squad and Black Guard because of deeds "such as sniping missions, dynamite runs, carrying of various cargoes and disciplinary actions."

Earlier the committee heard two policemen, Sgt. Stanley White of Oakland, Calif., and Capt. John E. Drass of Washington, D.C., state that the Panthers were preparing for armed revolution.

"We say the only culture worthwhile holding onto is a revolutionary culture," White quoted Panther Minister of Defense Huey Newton as saying. "The only way we're going to be free is from the barrel of a gun."

Powell said he was told his original training "was for defense of the black community in the event of a revolution... our intent was not to start a war or revolution but to prepare ourselves for defense."

But, the couple said, most of the old leaders have been removed and with them the original aims of the Panthers. The new leaders aim "is not to help the black man in his struggle, but to use him as a means of furthering their capitalist exploitation of black and white people," Powell said.

From its various crime operations and other sources, Powell went on, the party takes in $50,000 to $100,000 a month, with the money going into the pockets of key leaders, particularly chief of staff David Hilliard.

Stock Market Down Again

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to sink in moderately active trading early this afternoon with concern over tight money reported still overhauling the market.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 4.33 at 882.76.

Losses led gains by better than 500 issues.

"Tight money and monetary restraint continue to weigh on the market," an analyst said. He said investors were concerned by indications that "the Federal Reserve Board intends to keep the pressure on full-tilt until the inflationary spiral is tempered."

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.3 at 313.9, with industrials off 1.6, rails off .7, and utilities off .7.

Prices generally were lower on the American Stock Exchange, with 16 of the 20 most active issues lower, 2 higher, and 2 unchanged.

Says Saigon

In 1965, Clifford writes. Hanoi-supported forces were about to take over the South and only a heavy U.S. military presence could prevent it.

Since then, other events affected the situation. Clifford lists among these the fall of Nikita S. Khrushchev in Moscow, the widening Moscow-China feud, the destruction of Indonesia's Communist party and elimination of that Southeast Asia threat, and, recently, the Soviet-Chinese border clashes, which he says divert China's resources from the export of revolution.

Clifford proposes that the United States announce the beginning of a withdrawal—100,000 men—this year. His article was written before President Nixon announced an initial 25,000-man withdrawal.

The United States "should make clear this is not an isolated action, but the beginning of a process under which all U.S. ground combat forces will have been withdrawn from Vietnam by the end of 1970," he says.

Clifford says "orders should be issued to our military commanders to discontinue efforts to apply maximum pressure on the enemy, and to seek instead to reduce the level of combat." The maximum pressure policy he says, has resulted in high U.S. casualties "without discernible impact on the peace negotiations in Paris."

His contact with the Vietnam leaders, Clifford says, led him to conclude that Saigon was content to have U.S. involvement continue indefinitely, that "Saigon was in no hurry for the fighting to end and that the Saigon regime did not want us to reach an early settlement of military issues with Hanoi."

Another three years of testing will be needed before the vaccine might be considered ready.

Doctors of the Army Medical Research and Development Command told newsmen Thursday that the vaccine looks "like something that is effective."

Some 15,000 volunteers have been tried on the vaccine in the last 18 months, the doctors said. The vaccine is aimed at the meningitis strain which causes 90 per cent of the cases in military populations.

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the future of the surtax extension uncertain the Internal Revenue Service is playing it safe, mailing new tax withholding instructions Friday to 4 1/2 million employees.

"We're damned if we do and damned if we don't," a spokesman said Wednesday.

If Congress passes the extension, keeping the present withholding rates in effect, the $500,000 cost of the IRS printing and mailing will have been wasted.

If Congress does not enact the extension by June 30, the federal treasury loses $31 million a day, and U.S. employers have no legal basis for withholding tax deductions from pay checks at the present rate.

IRS mailing includes 24 pages of tables so employers will know how to change back if the tax extension fails.

Dirksen says he will block Knowles' confirmation.

"I personally think this raises a serious question about the relationship between President Nixon and the man who is supposed to be one of his closest advisers," a knowledgeable source said Wednesday.

"The way I heard it," this source added, "Finch got a serious dressing down about the Knowles thing and was told to forget it."

"I don't think that's true," said a Finch aide. "I think the whole thing still goes down to a question of whether you take on Dirksen this early in the administration or whether you don't."

Some other HEW officials, however, reportedly have grumbled in private that they haven't been able to get anywhere with the White House on many matters.

Whatever the real situation between Nixon and the man who managed two of his campaigns and came into the administration widely regarded as the man closest to the President, appearances are fast becoming clouded by rumor and gossip.

Black Panther Dropouts Say Group 'Cult Of Thieves'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first round of Senate hearings into violence in the nation has ended with testimony from two defectors from the Black Panthers party that the black power organization has degenerated into a cult of thieves exploiting the ghetto poor.

The Senate permanent investigations subcommittee listened Wednesday as Larry Clayton Powell and his wife Jean described an organization they said sexually corrupted teenagers, ordered the murder of dissident members and taught small children the art of crime.

Powell, 25, sat in the committee room wearing a solid-black uniform complete with beret, and carrying a copy of the red-covered volume, "The Quotations of Chairman Mao," and calmly described how he became a member of the Panthers' Elite Squad and Black Guard because of deeds "such as sniping missions, dynamite runs, carrying of various cargoes and disciplinary actions."

Earlier the committee heard two policemen, Sgt. Stanley White of Oakland, Calif., and Capt. John E. Drass of Washington, D.C., state that the Panthers were preparing for armed revolution.

"We say the only culture worthwhile holding onto is a revolutionary culture," White quoted Panther Minister of Defense Huey Newton as saying. "The only way we're going to be free is from the barrel of a gun."

Powell said he was told his original training "was for defense of the black community in the event of a revolution... our intent was not to start a war or revolution but to prepare ourselves for defense."

But, the couple said, most of the old leaders have been removed and with them the original aims of the Panthers. The new leaders aim "is not to help the black man in his struggle, but to use him as a means of furthering their capitalist exploitation of black and white people," Powell said.

From its various crime operations and other sources, Powell went on, the party takes in $50,000 to $100,000 a month, with the money going into the pockets of key leaders, particularly chief of staff David Hilliard.

Stock Market Down Again

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to sink in moderately active trading early this afternoon with concern over tight money reported still overhauling the market.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 4.33 at 882.76.

Losses led gains by better than 500 issues.

"Tight money and monetary restraint continue to weigh on the market," an analyst said. He said investors were concerned by indications that "the Federal Reserve Board intends to keep the pressure on full-tilt until the inflationary spiral is tempered."

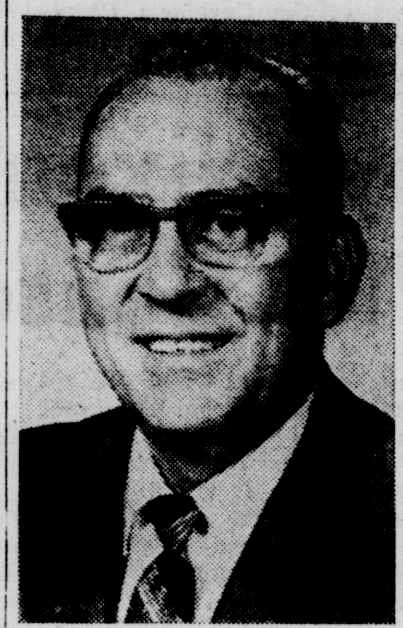

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.3 at 313.9, with industrials off 1.6, rails off .7, and utilities off .7.

Prices generally were lower on the American Stock Exchange, with 16 of the 20 most active issues lower, 2 higher, and 2 unchanged.

KENNETH F. FOSNAUGH

Kenneth F. Fosnaugh, 185 Hillcrest Drive, has been promoted to executive vice president and cashier of the Third National Bank.

Fosnaugh's promotion was announced today. He replaces Robert T. Rader, who retired June 1, 1969 after 47 1/2 years of service.

The new vice president is a native of Fairfield County. He graduated from Stoutsville High School.

Fosnaugh spent 4 1/2 years in military service, three of them overseas.

He started working for the Third National Bank in 1946. After seven years, he resigned to become assistant national bank examiner. He held this position for one year and then returned to the bank in April, 1962, as cashier.

He has recently completed an Ohio School of Banking course at Ohio University, Athens.

Fosnaugh and his wife, Marjorie, are the parents of two daughters, Mrs. Bonnie Fout and Miss Connie Fosnaugh.

Today In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS WASHINGTON (AP) — Encouraging progress has been reported by U.S. Army doctors in the development of a vaccine to combat meningitis.

Another three years of testing will be needed before the vaccine might be considered ready. Doctors of the Army Medical Research and Development Command told newsmen Thursday that the vaccine looks "like something that is effective."

Some 15,000 volunteers have been tried on the vaccine in the last 18 months, the doctors said. The vaccine is aimed at the meningitis strain which causes 90 per cent of the cases in military populations.

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the future of the surtax extension uncertain the Internal Revenue Service is playing it safe, mailing new tax withholding instructions Friday to 4 1/2 million employers.

"We're damned if we do and damned if we don't," a spokesman said Wednesday.

If Congress passes the extension, keeping the present withholding rates in effect, the $500,000 cost of the IRS printing and mailing will have been wasted.

If Congress does not enact the extension by June 30, the federal treasury loses $31 million a day, and U.S. employers have no legal basis for withholding tax deductions from pay checks at the present rate.

IRS mailing includes 24 pages of tables so employers will know how to change back if the tax extension fails.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seventy more federal judgeships have been approved by the Senate Judiciary Committee along with court machinery to deal with case backlogs.

The committee's bill, approved Wednesday, would have a "court executive" named for the 11 federal appellate courts and 18 district courts where there are more than six judges. These court officers would help control the case calendar and also have subpoena power for gathering information relating to jurists alleged to be unable to do their work.

The bill proceeds to the Senate floor.

Political Storm

Diksen says he will block Knowles' confirmation.

"I personally think this raises a serious question about the relationship between President Nixon and the man who is supposed to be one of his closest advisers," a knowledgeable source said Wednesday.

"The way I heard it," said a source added, "Finn got a serious dressing down about the Knowles thing and was told to forget it."

"I don't think that's true," said a Finn aide. "I think the whole thing still goes down to a question of whether you take on Diksen this early in the administration or whether you don't."

Some other HEW officials, however, reportedly have grumbled in private that they haven't been able to get anywhere with the White House on many matters.

Whatever the real situation between Nixon and the man who managed two of his campaigns and came into the administration widely regarded as the man closest to the President, appearances are fast becoming clouded by rumor and gossip.

A 10-foot aluminum pram boat valued at $100 was stolen from Darby Creek just north of the bridge on Route 104 last week according to its owner, Andre C. Fontaine, Columbus.

An investigation of the theft by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department indicated that the chain which secured the boat was cut with a hack saw.

A set of oars in a nearby shed were also stolen.

Ohio Senate Bans Nitrate Eyeglasses

Frame Material Inflammable, Dangerous

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Senate has moved to protect the eyesight of Ohioans by prohibiting the sale of sunglasses and eyeglasses that contain nitrates in the frames.

Tuesday the Senate passed 31-1 and sent to the House a bill to keep the frames containing cellulose nitrate, a highly inflammable ingredient found in some explosives, from being manufactured distributed or sold in Ohio.

Frames containing cellulose nitrate burn rapidly, often fiercely, when ignited. The gases given off are extremely poisonous and, under some conditions, explosive.

Violators would be fined a maximum of $100 for a first offense and a maximum of $500 for each subsequent offense.

The Senate received a Democratic-sponsored resolution urging Ohio banks to rescind the latest prime interest rate increase.

It was sponsored by Sen. Ronald M. Mottl, D-24 Parma, who said in a news release that he felt those banks "that irresponsibly raised the interest rate" are "causing unnecessary problems for Ohio consumers."

In other legislative action Tuesday, the House drastically amended and then adopted a Senate-passed bill concerning the amount of interest the state or a political subdivision can pay for bonds or notes.

The original Senate bill would have completely removed the interest rate ceiling and allowed the political subdivisions to sell bonds and notes at the interest rate prevailing in the market.

But the House adopted an amendment sponsored by Rep. James Flannery, D-48 Cleveland, to set a statutory interest rate ceiling of eight per cent. The final vote was 75-11.

The House passed 71-14 vote after an hour-long debate a bill to make it possible for six electric companies in Ohio by giving them a $4.9 million tax break.

The bill, which exempts public utility holding companies from the franchise tax, now goes to the governor.

The six companies which have expressed interest in forming a holding company are Toledo Edison, Ohio Edison, Dayton Power and Light, Cincinnati Gas and Electric, Cleveland Electric Illuminating and Duquesne Light Co. of Pittsburgh.

Under the bill, such a holding company would pay about $72,000 in franchise fees. Under present law, it would have to pay about $5 million in franchise taxes. The companies now pay a three per cent excise tax.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Lunch Talks In A Motel Room?

DEAR ABBY: I'm a happily married woman with two children and a husband who is handsome, successful and hard-working. While hanging up his coats last evening, a motel key (from a local motel) fell out of his coat pocket. Since we live right in town I wondered what he needed a motel room for, so I asked him.

He told me that he has a lot of office business to talk over with his secretary and he can't very well take her out to lunch in public because she's a divorcee with quite a colorful past, and people might talk. So, since he values his reputation as a straight-laced family man, occasionally he rents a motel room, where he takes her for lunch and discussions.

Abby, I've never had reason to mistrust my husband in the past, but what do you think of this explanation?

WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: Tell your husband that if he's concerned about "talk"—there would be more "talk" were people to learn that he rents a motel room in order to "talk" business with a secretary who has a colorful past.

DEAR ABBY: I know a widow in her seventies who is quite remarkable. (I'll call her "Aunt Mary".) Circumstances are such that this lady has had to make her home with her daughter for the last 10 years. Aunt Mary is active, cheerful and a joy to be with. Best of all, she knows how to keep from being "in the way."

Aunt Mary makes herself available to stay in the homes of parents who want a responsible adult there for weekends or longer.

She does this not so much for the money (which she can use, of course) but who likes to be out of her daughter's home for a while. I have even known her to spend her own money to go to a motel for a "few days"—saying she needs HER privacy, when it is really her wish to give her daughter's family their privacy.

What do you think of a woman like that?

SALLY
DEAR SALLY: I think she deserves to be nominated for "mother of the year."

DEAR ABBY: How my husband has put up with me for 23 years I'll never know. All these years I thought I had married an over-sexed man, but now I have to admit there was nothing wrong with him. It was me, I'm frigid.

If mothers would only teach their daughter how to be loving wives it would do them more good than learning how to cook and keep the house. All these years I have kept a spotless home, and earned a reputation for being a fine cook. I even sewed, and took care of our garden, but what my husband needed was ME, and I foolishly turned my back on home. We are of moderate means, but we have never had words about money, sex yes, but money no.

I know it's not easy to all of a sudden realize that sex between man and wife is clean and beautiful and right, after having it drummed into your head that it is dirty and sinful and wrong.

Print this. It may help a younger woman.

LEARNED TOO LATE

DEAR LEARNED: It's never "too late." At least you learned.

DEAR ABBY: I've read your column for years and have wanted to write and comment on some of the letters and your replies, and now I finally have a reason.

I recently came across an article on "ANTIQUES" published in TIME magazine, May 2, 1969. With it appeared a picture of a couple serving SOUP from an antique CHAMBER POT!

No doubt these are the same people who objected so strenuously to bathing babies in the kitchen sink.

She does this not so much for the money (which she can use, of course) but who likes to be out of her daughter's home for a while. I have even known her to spend her own money to go to a motel for a "few days"—saying she needs HER privacy, when it is really her wish to give her daughter's family their privacy.

What do you think of a woman like that?

SALLY

DEAR SALLY: I think she deserves to be nominated for "mother of the year."

DEAR ABBY: How my husband has put up with me for 23 years I'll never know. All these years I thought I had married an over-sexed man, but now I have to admit there was nothing wrong with him. It was me, I'm frigid.

If mothers would only teach their daughter how to be loving wives it would do them more good than learning how to cook and keep the house. All these years I have kept a spotless home, and earned a reputation for being a fine cook. I even sewed, and took care of our garden, but what my husband needed was ME, and I foolishly turned my back on home. We are of moderate means, but we have never had words about money, sex yes, but money no.

I know it's not easy to all of a sudden realize that sex between man and wife is clean and beautiful and right, after having it drummed into your head that it is dirty and sinful and wrong.

Print this. It may help a younger woman.

LEARNED TOO LATE
DEAR LEARNED: It's never "too late." At least you learned.

DEAR ABBY: I've read your column for years and have wanted to write and comment on some of the letters and your replies, and now I finally have a reason.

I recently came across an article on "ANTIQUES" published in TIME magazine, May 2, 1969. With it appeared a picture of a couple serving SOUP from an antique CHAMBER POT!

No doubt these are the same people who objected so strenuously to bathing babies in the kitchen sink.

Interest Rates

Breaking a credit-oriented society of its borrowing habits is proving one of the most difficult tasks of the nation's economists. With interest rates at all-time highs and money available for borrowing continually shrinking, the demand for new credit nevertheless remains high.

What is needed to break the inflationary spell of all sectors of the economy is a concrete example of government's ability to live within its income. It has been so long since the federal government constructed its budget around current income rather than on substantial borrowings that it may require several years' joint effort by an economy-minded Congress and administration to turn the trick.

That attempt is being forced by the trend of events. But at the same time the administration considers restraints on the consumer, it should also set its sights on a balanced budget for fiscal 1970 as a firm commitment.

The portents are everywhere to be seen—crazy government spending has reached the end of the road.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — For the practical purpose of doing business, a growing list of corporations has decided that already this is one world—politics, color and customs notwithstanding. They could be right; they may be wrong.

As the trend continues to multinational or international—the words have subtly different meanings—restless grumblings are heard from some nations. Others, such as Peru, have acted directly and seized assets.

Nothing to date, however, is likely to stop the trend which, by general agreement, usually proffers economic benefits to the nations but which also tends to clash with its customs and feelings.

Americans generally are blamed or praised for spreading the concept, but every industrialized nation has probed the markets of other nations. The difference, though, is that the multinational company sets up business within a country rather than exports to that country.

Within recent months Americans have received an idea of the power of foreign-based international firms.

British Petroleum Corp., Ltd.,

reported rich oil findings on the North Slope of Alaska. This greatly enlarged its supply of raw materials for conversion to retail products. But it needed retail outlets.

BP first acquired for $400 million the marketing, refining and pipeline facilities of the former Sinclair Oil Corp., which meant the end of that popular American retail symbol of the dinosaur.

Not long afterward, it agreed to purchase 25 per cent of Standard Oil Co. (Ohio), a darling move that shocked some oil executives. Under the agreement, the British company might eventually gain control of the Ohio unit.

The United States, with a Gross National Product of more than $900 billion a year, can absorb with relative calmness such foreign invasion. But for smaller nations the experience can be traumatic.

It is entirely possible that some of these smaller nations might have total output of less than the foreign company they host. General Motors, for example, sold $22.7 billion of goods last year, more than the total output of Argentina or

Denmark or Austria.

The output of all U.S. production abroad, estimated to be as much as $130 billion a year, makes American enterprise abroad—foreign operations only—as powerful economically as Japan or Germany.

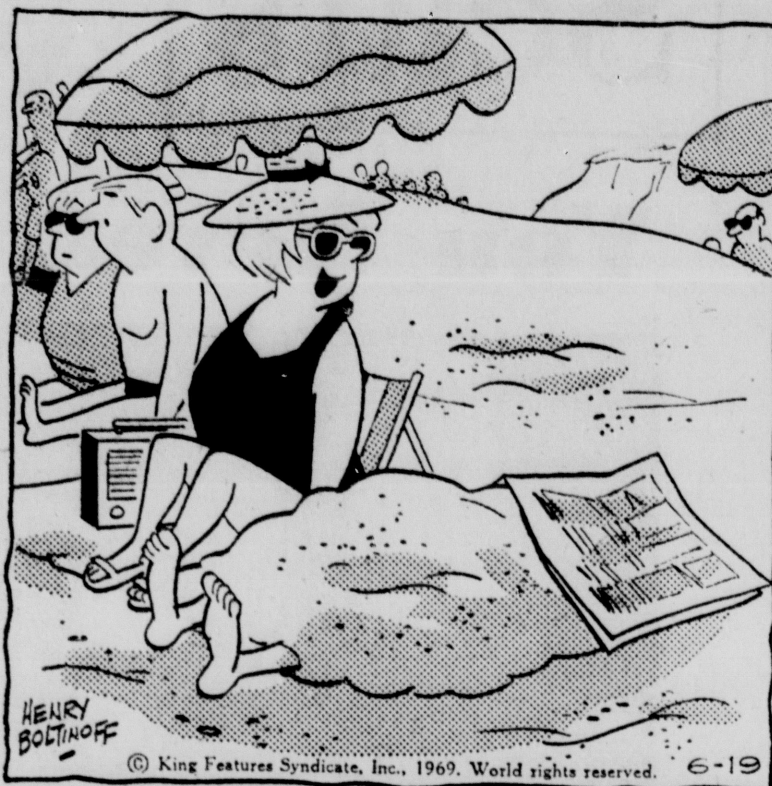

For this reason America is in the forefront of controversy as nations argue the merits of multinational corporations.

The plus factors, so far as smaller nations are concerned, are the jobs, wages and taxes created. The drawback essentially is the absence of control over the behemoth to which it is host.

This is not an idle fear, for the allegiance of some multinational firms can be sorely tested. American companies, for instance, are encouraged to remit to the United States their foreign earnings. But the nations in which the profits are made naturally like to see them remain at home.

No easy solution to the conflicts is anticipated, especially as nationalism seems to be growing in many areas of the world. Seizure of assets always is a threat, and lesser problems are almost constant.

TWO ORIENTALS, named Hi and Lo respectively, ran into one another in Chinatown recently, reports Russ Greenan, author of the exciting new book, "It Happened in Boston?" and the following exchange ensued:

Hi greeted Lo with an enthusiastic "Hi, Lo!" Lo, more laconic, replied, "Lo, Hi."

The old jokes still are best, claims Monologist Harry Hersfeld, who certainly ought to know. He still gets a full quota of laughs with the chestnut about one citizen telling a tightwad who obviously has worn the same suit for several years, "I'll bet you've been in style seven times without even knowing it."

Harry once encountered a very hostile, unappreciative audience in Boston. He finally told them, "If I were Paul Revere, I wouldn't have warned you!"

In an Alaskan town, a sizeable earthquake sent the members of the municipal council scurrying outside for safety. Later, when the secretary wrote up the minutes of the meeting, he nearly concluded, "On motion of the City Hall, the council adjourned."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Pyloric stenosis is a narrowing of the small part of the intestine at the point where it leads from the stomach. This rare condition occasionally occurs at the time of birth and is quickly recognized by the physician.

It is caused by some defect in development and rarely can be traced to any unusual experience during the pregnancy.

The narrowing of the duodenum is caused by a marked enlargement of the muscle in the wall of the small intestine. The condition strangely affects boys more often than it does girls, and can only sometimes be relieved with drugs that reduce spasm.

More often, however, surgery is the quickest and the safest control and cure of this condition. The operation is performed on newborn children and usually takes no more than a half hour, so that their lives are not threatened by surgery at such an early age.

The results are spectacular and within twenty-four hours the distressing symptoms are almost completely gone.

The skillful surgeon simply cuts the overgrown muscle fibers but does not enter into the intestinal tract. It is for this reason that the operation takes so little time and is free from great danger. Parents of newborn children understandably become terrified when they are told that this congenital intestinal defect is present. They can be assured that with modern, safe anesthesia and skilled surgery, even such tiny infants respond readily and are returned to good health. There rarely, if ever, is any aftermath during adolescence or adulthood of this condition.

A deviation of the nasal septum is probably one of the most frequent findings during a general physical examination. The septum of the nose consists mostly of cartilage and a little fine, thin bone forming a wall which separates the two compartments of the nose.

Rarely does a doctor ever see a completely straight septum. Almost always it is deviated or bent in one direction or another. It is believed that the septum becomes bent during the early formative years of growth of the hard palate in the mouth. This may be a reasonable cause. Another may be injury

U.S. Workers Get Pay Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly 5 million federal workers and military personnel will get pay raises in July, boosting their income a total of $3.3 billion a year.

President Nixon ordered the pay raise Tuesday as the final step in the 1967 Pay Reform Act which was designed to bring federal salaries in line with private industry.

The new increase is an average 9.1 per cent jump in the pay of some 1.9 million white collar employees, Foreign Service and Veterans Administration medical personnel. The big clerk-carrier level of rank-and-file postal workers will receive 4.1 per cent more.

This brings to 18.5 per cent the average increase for white collar civilian federal employees since the 1967 law took effect.

Negro Business Problems

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

"The trouble with black capitalism..." So Andrew Brimmer, the Negro member of the Federal Reserve Board of Governors, heads his long analysis, in Nation's Business, of the chances for self-sustaining black enterprises in the ghettos. Going to the record, Brimmer recalls that when the Negro market for special cosmetics reached a certain volume, the major cosmetic firms, owned by whites, came marching into the field and drove the small-scale black-owned factories to the wall.

But does this sort of thing have to happen? The whole question is one of developing a Negro business expertise to match the funds that could be made available for the development of black enterprises. Unfortunately, the black militants are tending to make it impossible for the Negro entrepreneur to rub up against the white man in a quest for the needed experience and knowledge. Moreover, the white man's own bureaucracies add to the difficulty: for example, when Dr. Thomas Mathews' NEGRO (National Economic Growth and Reconstruction Organization) bid low at the Pentagon on a contract for bandoliers, the contracting officer insisted that NEGRO must use multi-needle sewing machines capable of sewing six seams at a time.

When Dr. Mathews explained that he preferred to use single needle machines in order to hire as many of the hard-core unemployed as possible, his bid, although still the lowest, was turned down. This happened despite the fact that the contract itself made no specification about manufacturing technology.

Some time ago Arnold Saltzman, the president of the Seagrave Corporation, formed an organization called LEAD (League for Economic American Democracy). The immediate object of LEAD, which was to be headed by six black militants and six white industrialists, was to persuade the major insurance companies to "buy" some of the Small Business Administration's outstanding loans, thus freeing some $30 million of SBA capital to help start black businesses.

The Treasury Department approved the sale of the loans, and Mr. Saltzman had the assurances of the insurance companies that they would go through with the projected purchases. But, somewhere in the mazes of government bureaucracy, the whole deal has been left hanging fire.

Is this the sort of thing that must happen when private citizens who combine public spirit with entrepreneurial know-how try to lend encouragement to new black industries in New York's Bedford-Stuyvesant slum and elsewhere?

The Saltzman idea, if followed out to the end of overcoming Federal Reserve Governor Brimmer's fear that loans to Negro businessmen must go down the drain unless they are backed up by technical skills, would be to persuade five hundred reputable American corporations to jump into the business of giving needed advice to fledgling black enterprises. What Mr. Saltzman asks is that each of the five hundred corporations lend a couple of qualified technicians to a combined SBA-private industry project for a year.

With a thousand white technicians dispensing advice to black businessmen, neither the government nor white credit sources would stand to lose any significant amount of money on the deal. The corporations would be out a small amount for paying the salaries of the technicians on loan to black enterprises and they would, of course, be losing the services of some good men for a short period. But they would be saving a lot of important American cities whose inhabitants, incidentally, constitute a big part of the total U.S. market. And the employment that would follow from the creation of twenty thousand new black businesses would do something to lower the relief costs for our taxpayers.

Richard Nixon made a great deal of the black capitalism issue when he was running for the Presidency. Yet it is his Pentagon that has turned Dr. Thomas Mathews down on the bandolier bid, and it is his Small Business Administration that has let Arnold Saltzman's LEAD idea perish for lack of government follow-through. The pragmatists (including Richard Nixon) say that "a thing is true if it works." But the Nixon bureaucracy, unfortunately, doesn't seem to be working on the black capitalism issue.

Today is Thursday, June 19, the 170th day of 1969. There are 195 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1819, the S.S. Savannah arrived in Liverpool, England after the first Atlantic crossing by a steamship.

On this date: In 1586, colonists sailed from Roanoke, Va., ending the first settlement of the English in America.

In 1756, at Calcutta, India, 146 British prisoners being held by natives suffocated in the dungeon which became known as the "Black Hole of Calcutta."

In 1867, the Emperor Maximilian of Mexico was executed by the rebel, Benito Juarez.

In 1862, the U.S. Congress prohibited slavery in American territories.

In 1885, the Statue of Liberty arrived in New York from France.

In 1912, the U.S. government adopted the eight-hour day for federal employees.

Ten years ago — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev made what seemed to be a conciliatory speech at a Geneva Big Four foreign ministers conference on the German problem.

Five years ago — U.S. Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., was seriously injured in a plane crash at Southampton, Mass. Two other men were killed.

One year ago — The American Medical Association declared that marijuana is a dangerous drug, despite opinions by some doctors that it is no more harmful than alcohol.

Hatlo's They'll Do It Every Time

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — For the practical purpose of doing business, a growing list of corporations has decided that already this is one world—politics, color and customs notwithstanding. They could be right; they may be wrong.

As the trend continues to multinational or international or transnational—the words have subtly different meanings—restless grumblings are heard from some nations. Others, such as Peru, have acted directly and seized assets.

Nothing to date, however, is likely to stop the trend which, by general agreement, usually proffers economic benefits to the nations but which also tends to clash with its customs and feelings.

Americans generally are blamed or praised for spreading the concept, but every industrialized nation has probed the markets of other nations. The difference, though, is that the multinational company sets up business within a country rather than exports to that country.

Within recent months Americans have received an idea of the power of foreign-based international firms.

British Petroleum Corp., Ltd.,

reported rich oil findings on the North Slope of Alaska. This greatly enlarged its supply of raw materials for conversion to retail products. But it needed retail outlets.

BP first acquired for $400 million the marketing, refining and pipeline facilities of the former Sinclair Oil Corp., which meant the end of that popular American retail symbol of the dinosaur.

Not long afterward, it agreed to purchase 25 per cent of Standard Oil Co. (Ohio), a darling move that shocked some oil executives. Under the agreement, the British company might eventually gain control of the Ohio unit.

The United States, with a Gross National Product of more than $900 billion a year, can absorb with relative calmness such foreign invasion. But for smaller nations the experience can be traumatic.

It is entirely possible that some of these smaller nations might have total output of less than the foreign company they host. General Motors, for example, sold $22.7 billion of goods last year, much more than the total output of Argentina or

Denmark or Austria.

The output of all U.S. production abroad, estimated to be as much as $130 billion a year, makes American enterprise abroad—foreign operations only—as powerful economically as Japan or Germany.

For this reason America is in the forefront of controversy as nations argue the merits of multinational corporations.

The plus factors, so far as smaller nations are concerned, are the jobs, wages and taxes created. The drawback essentially is the absence of control over the beehemoth to which it is host.

This is not an idle fear, for the allegiance of some multinational firms can be sorely tested. American companies, for instance, are encouraged to remit to the United States their foreign earnings. But the nations in which the profits are made naturally like to see them remain at home.

No easy solution to the conflicts is anticipated, especially as nationalism seems to be growing in many areas of the world. Seizure of assets always is a threat, and lesser problems are almost constant.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

When the world is too much with you, the best way to get away from it all is to take a nap. People who take regular afternoon naps worry less and live longer than those who waste their energies brooding over problems about which they can do nothing.

Nothing is impossible to a man who can eat raw clams—and enjoy them.

There has been a lot of criticism lately of America's "industrial-military complex." What most of us want to know, however, is how we can become members of it and get our fair share of the profits from defensive patriotism.

The longer a novelist writes, the lazier he usually is. He expects the reader to weed the prose he should weed himself. It is far easier to write a bad novel of 800 pages than a good one of 350 pages.

Apples now cost up to 20 cents or more each in Manhattan supermarkets. If their prices go much higher, it may become cheaper to see your doctor than to eat an apple a day to keep him away.

Nature tries to hide her mistakes; half the girls who wear miniskirts frustrate her by revealing them.

We fret about how we will ever be able to afford to send our children to college, but parenthood is a tough ordeal for birds, too. Take a mother robin, for example. She must provide each of her clamorous brood of nestlings with 14 feet of worms every 24 hours. It is a wonder that the orange feathers on her breast don't turn gray. About the only exercise some people get today is pointing the finger of scorn.

If you want to invest your money safely, lend it to a man who still wears spats. He is too old-fashioned to be dishonest.

A man with a new set of false teeth usually brags that he can eat anything. But if you lunch with him at a restaurant, you will notice he orders chicken a la king or corned beef hash more often than he does steak.

It's a funny thing about the business world—the harder the decisions an executive has to make, the softer is the cushion in his swivel chair throne.

It is true that every dog has his day; it is also true that every day something happens to the average guy to make him feel like a dog.

In reading the Monday morning newspapers, isn't it amazing to note over a period of time how many Sunday golfers are struck by lightning—and how few people are hit in church?

One of the best ways to stop the population explosion would be to teach every male child at the age of 5 to cook his own meals and sew buttons on his shirt.

Watching horse opera shoot-em-outs and pro football games on color television can be highly educational. For one thing it teaches the alert viewer to distinguish between ketchup and real gore.

Municipal Court's Authority Curbed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. Paul W. Brown ruled Wednesday that municipal courts are without jurisdiction of violations of rules and regulations of state universities.

In an opinion asked by Portage County Prosecuting Attorney Ronald J. Kane, Brown said municipal courts can neither prosecute nor levy fines for such violations.

The Children's Corner

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Pickaway County Public Library has a section devoted to books for children. Volumes recently added to the Children's Library are reviewed here.

Mrs. James Leckrone, of the Roundtown Players, will read a special story hour at the Pickaway County Public Library on June 28 at 10:15 a.m. It will be geared for boys and girls grades 4-6, although others may attend if they wish.

"A Beasty Circus" by Peggy Parish is an alphabet book, each letter described in a tongue twister. Do you trip on "Mischievous masked minks messily mix malted milk"? Then try this one: "Kerchiefed kinkajous kid kilted kangaroos!" For preschoolers and their amusing, amazing, alliterating adults.

"Sugarplum and Snowball" by Johanna Johnston. Some dolls are just too beautiful for the rough and tumble of everyday play. So they sit, all starched and prim, on a shelf. Sometimes they lie in a dark drawer, beside some sneakers and an old bathing cap. It was Snowball, the white kitten, who finally rescued the doll Sugarplum from this dreary tedium. Lovely soft illustrations by Idelette Bardigoni will please little girls who love their dolls. Picture book.

"What Do You Love" is Charlotte Steiner's newest book for very little people. She has drawn charming children in the water, on holidays, at picnics with dress-up clothes. Preschool.

"The Remarkable Eggs" by Adelaide Hall. A coot built a nest in the reeds. But before she could put it to use, some one placed a beautiful round red egg in it. Now the coot was a good-hearted soul, and she set about at once to find the owner. Good for reading aloud. Color illustrations by Roger Duvoisin, who won the 1948 Caldecott award for "White Snow, Bright Snow." For this book he draws from a coot's eye level. Picture book.

"Ghost in a Four Room Apartment" by Ellen Raskin is a read-aloud book about a poltergeist. Half the pages are white, and on them are little sing-song rhymes about Doris, dressed in plaid, and Horace, good and bad. Half the pages are black, and they tell us what the prankish poltergeist is thinking. Grades 1-3.

"Tootittle" by Edna Preston. Geewhiz, Hoomie and Tootittle were brothers. Geewhiz and Hoomie lived up to their names. But Tootittle proved he was big enough to perform an important errand. Even the circus parade helped him! Grades 1-3.

"Sylvester and the Magic Pebble" by William Steig. Sylvester is a donkey, but he lives a human sort of life. You might call him the Eabar of the barnyard set. A magic pebble grants his every desire and Sylvester learns to word his wishes carefully. Grades 1-3.

"Little Popcorn" by Sara Asheron. Popcorn is an appealing puppy — white as popcorn, popping in a pan. He wants to be a firehouse dog, spots and all. He is serious in his quest for spots, even while Fireman Bill jokes with him. Good for the beginning reader. Grades 1-3.

"The Wonderful Eggs of Furicchia" by Anne Rockwell is an old Italian folk tale about Furicchia, the kindly witch of Florence. How her envious neighbor, Maddalina, bewitched herself and became a clucking chicken is a story to delight the small fry. Grades 1-3.

"When you can get one person to talk about another person with objectivity and enthusiasm, you find out more about the one who is doing the talking than in any other way."

In his 90-minute daily shows, Ludden has a segment he calls "Portraits" in which reporters and writers talk about people they have covered and written about. Some of the subjects include Vanessa Redgrave, J. Paul Getty, Albert Schweitzer, Eldridge Cleaver, Wilt Chamberlain and Mickey Mouse.

Ludden is launching the series when the television woods are full of such programs. And some have quietly dropped by the wayside—most recently "The Woody Woodbury Show" and "The Donald O'Connor Show." Soon that competition for audiences will be even tougher. Merv Griffin moves his show into the CBS fold in mid-August, opposite Carson and Joey Bishop. David Frost will take over for Griffin in syndication. Then too there are the established Mike Douglas and Steve Allen shows.

Ludden hopes there is room for one more.

Expect Minority Government In Ireland After Elections

DUBLIN (AP) — The counting of ballots from Ireland's national election began today with most observers predicting a minority government and raising the prospect of another election in the fall.

No clear voting trends were expected before nightfall.

Evendale GE Plant Struck

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pickets walked their posts today at the General Electric plant at nearby Evendale as 1,400 machinists — their ranks reportedly bolstered by hundreds of sympathizing workers — stayed away from their jobs for the second straight day.

A federal mediator sat in on a session Wednesday between representatives of the strikers and GE management, but nothing came of the talks and no new ones were scheduled.

The walkout began at midnight Tuesday over several worker grievances management allegedly failed to submit to arbitration.

USE THE CLASSIFIEDS

Two major opposition parties tried to unseat Prime Minister Jack Lynch's Fianna Fail — Soldiers of Destiny — party in the election Wednesday. The turnout was heavy, and the counting could continue until Saturday.

The chief factor against the government appeared to be a general feeling that it was time for a change after 12 years of Fianna Fail rule. Expected to profit from that feeling were the centrist Fine Gael — Irish party — and the leftist Labor Party.

But the Irish system of proportional representation voting, in which voters may cast weighted ballots for several candidates, confounds opinion polls and makes computer projections impossible.

At stake were 143 of the 144 seats in the Dail, the lower house of Parliament. The house speaker was returned without opposition.

Much of the attention centered on northeast Dublin, where Labor party leader Conor Cruise O'Brien, a former New York University professor, faced Charles Haughey, Lynch's finance minister.

They fought a rugged campaign, Haughey under fire for profiting from a private land deal and O'Brien charged with trying to turn Ireland into a Maoist satellite. Thirteen candidates were running for four seats in the district, so it is possible for both men to win.

Fianna Fail held a two-seat majority in the last Dail and suffered a major setback last year when its bid to ditch the proportional representation system was rejected by 60 per cent of the voters in a national referendum.

Views On TV - Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — Allen Ludden, who has been seen mostly in "Password" reruns since the long-playing game show went off the network air almost two years ago, has spent most of the intervening time developing what he believes is "the logical extension of the old desk-and-sofa show."

The extension, called "Allen Ludden's Gallery," will have its premiere Monday on several dozen stations across the country.

"Jack Paar started it," Ludden said, "and people were amused and entertained by the guests who told about the funny things that happened to them on the way to the studio."

Carbons of the Paar show proliferated and prosper until now, the former game show host said, there are peripatetic guests who "make the rounds of four or five shows with one or two stories and then get a couple of new stories and start out all over again."

"I started thinking about all that self-serving chit-chat that revealed nothing about the guests one night when Truman Capote appeared on the Johnny Carson show. He started talking about some of the people he encountered when getting material for his 'In Cold Blood.' Even Carson shut up—it was the first time I'd ever seen Carson really listening."

Ludden believes that there is under the sun only one subject that interests everybody: people.

"When you can get one person to talk about another person with objectivity and enthusiasm, you find out more about the one who is doing the talking than in any other way."

In his 90-minute daily shows, Ludden has a segment he calls "Portraits" in which reporters and writers talk about people they have covered and written about. Some of the subjects include Vanessa Redgrave, J. Paul Getty, Albert Schweitzer, Eldridge Cleaver, Wilt Chamberlain and Mickey Mouse.

Curry Powder Is Used To Curry Extra Flavor

By ALICE DENHOFF

Two decades ago, very few grocers stocked curry powder. But these days, this seasoning, associated with the Far East, has become a staple on the spice shelf, just as curried dishes have grown in favor in dining places. Service personnel stationed in the Far East have brought home with them a taste for curries, as have tourists.

While curry is at home in many Oriental-type dishes, it also lives up such dishes as Fried Chicken. Curried lamb is a favorite leftover and curry of shrimp is another palate pleaser.

Here is a recipe for: CURRIED CHICKEN GRAVY FOR FRIED CHICKEN.

1/4 cup chicken fat drippings
3 tablespoons flour
3/4 teaspoon curry powder
3/4 teaspoon onion salt
1 chicken bouillon cube
1 cup milk
1-16 teaspoon black pepper
In a small skillet, blend fat with next 3 ingredients. Dissolve bouillon cube in 1 cup water and add along with milk and pepper, mix well and cook to desired thickness, stirring constantly. Makes 2 1/2 cups delicious gravy that is a wonderful perkier-upper for fried chicken.

Try this good: HURRIED CURRIED SHRIMP

2 packages (14 ounces each) frozen, peeled and deveined shrimp
1/4 teaspoon instant garlic powder
1 teaspoon instant minced onion
1 1/2 teaspoons curry powder
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 1/4 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon black pepper
1 1/2 cups milk
Hot cooked rice
Cook shrimp as directed on label, adding garlic powder to water in which shrimp is cooked. Drain; set aside. Mix minced onion with 1 teaspoon water; let stand 10 minutes.

In a saucepan, saute onion and curry powder in butter, over moderate heat—about 3 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in flour, salt and black pepper. Gradually blend in milk; bring to boiling point over moderate heat, stirring constantly. Simmer until thickened—about 2 minutes. Add cooked shrimp. Heat slowly until hot—about 5 minutes. Serve on hot cooked rice, garnish it with parsley if desired.

Serves 6. CURRIED LAMBURGERS.
1 pound ground lean lamb
Onion salt and garlic salt to taste
1/4 cup softened butter or margarine
1/2 to 3/4 teaspoons curry powder
4 hamburger buns
Shape unseasoned lamb into 4 patties. Sprinkle both sides with onions and garlic salts. Grill over hot bed of charcoal or under broiler, until done (15 to 20 minutes), turning to brown both sides. Combine butter with curry powder and spread generously on both sides of the patties.

Serve between hamburger buns. If you are a real curry fan, sprinkle additional curry powder over the patties after they are placed in the buns.
Note: Keep curry powder container tightly closed and discard curry powder that has been unused for a long time.

Wins Appeal Of Sentence

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The appeal of 22-year-old Akron go-go dancer Tonia Gaylan to her two-year prison sentence on a drug possession charge was upheld Wednesday by appellate court judges.

The woman had been sentenced to a term in the Marysville Reformatory on Dec. 9 by Summit County Common Pleas Court Judge Evan J. Reed over the objections of Stephen Galabac, the assistant county prosecutor, and three psychiatrists.

The appeals court returned the case Wednesday to the common pleas court, ruling that Reed had denied Miss Gaylan a hearing on psychiatric reports. Before her sentencing, Miss Gaylan had gone with Galabac to talk to school groups on drug use. She continued the work after her sentencing while free on $2,000 bond during her appeal. She was charged with possession of marijuana after police found two partially-smoked marijuana cigarettes in her purse.

Report Says Lima Oil Pipe Rupture Caused By Welder

WASHINGTON (AP) — An investigation by a private research foundation into a crude oil pipeline rupture at Lima, Ohio, Jan. 13, places the blame on cracks said to have been left by a welder's torch during relocation work.

The rupture of the 22-inch Buckeye Oil Co. pipeline spilled some 2,000 gallons of crude oil into the Lima sewer system.

There were no outright injuries but the oil caused a fire and explosion in a sewage treatment plant that caused an estimated $200,000 damage.

The mayor of Lima declared a 110-square block area of south

Lima a disaster area and evacuated some 6,900 residents.

The investigation of the pipeline failure was made by the Battelle Memorial Institute of Columbus, Ohio, on request of the Buckeye Company. It is on file with the National Transportation Safety Board here but the board itself did not make any formal report of the incident which was viewed by the board as a routine accident and one that did not involve interstate transfer.

The Battelle report said the line was laid in 1949 and a short part of it was relocated in 1962. It said it was apparently during the relocation that a welder's are left small cracks in the pipe.

Speculation is that possibly due to constant pressure and seasonal weather changes the cracks enlarged until they finally caused the rupture.

It was reported that there was no evident corrosion and the pipe and its fittings had a yield and tensile strength in excess of American Petroleum Institute requirements.

The report said there was no positive evidence as to why the rupture occurred when it did.

Hippie Happening Is Broken Up

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A hippie "happening" which included performances of the sex act in a public street erupted into violence when police tried to break it up.

More than 400 city, county and state police finally swept across the University of Michigan campus and adjoining streets Tuesday night to clear the area of about 1,500 persons, including students.

Eleven policemen were injured by rocks, bottles and other missiles. One officer was hit by a fire bomb. Another suffered a serious kidney injury. Throwing of rocks and debris continued into this morning.

Police retaliated with tear gas charges and arrested 39 adults and three juveniles. Two women were charged with malicious destruction of police cars.

Worker Claims Air Force Demoted Him In C5A Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Air Force efficiency expert who says he was demoted to cost overseer of a GI bowling alley after pointing out a $2 billion overrun on the C5A transport plane claims the military subjects cost-control experts to "isolation, neutralization or removal from the acquisition business."

A. Ernest Fitzgerald told a joint congressional economic subcommittee Tuesday he landed in the Pentagon dog house last year when he alerted Congress to the projected cost increase for the giant plane.

He said he was removed from his cost control duties on major weapons contracts and told to "review minor construction problems in Thailand that included cost increases for a 20-lane bowling alley."

Fitzgerald also told the congressmen of another civilian Air Force employee who he said uncovered a $229 million, willful underestimation of a major weapons system.

"He was isolated, effectively removed from supervision of this activity and given minor responsibilities," Fitzgerald said of the unnamed official in the Air Force Systems Command.

The cost analyst landed "in deep trouble" after he went outside normal channels to tell top Pentagon officials they had been sold a bill of goods on the Mark II electronics and navigation system for the F111 fighter-bomber, Fitzgerald said.

Air Force officers said the program would cost $712 million when they knew the correct figure was $941 million, he said.

"The program was approved on the basis of an estimate that was knowingly reduced," Fitzgerald said. "The Air Force was forced to admit its mistake but the program was approved and spending was under way already."

Fitzgerald said after his own demotion Air Force officers then wrested the entire contract review and cost-control program from civilian hands.

"I think the over-all climate and the level of opposition to cost-reducing measures, reinforced by occasional examples of personal disaster visited on economy proponents, it is not surprising that most working level government acquisition managers shy away from tough cost control actions," Fitzgerald said.

WELL DESIGNED LANDSCAPING — This terraced pool is evidence that Miriam Weaver, 469 Half Ave. shows artistic ability in planning her pool and garden.

Miriam Weaver's Garden, Pool Artistic In Design

By RUTH MONTELIUS
Garden Editor

I knew Miriam Weaver was talented artistically but didn't realize how versatile her talents were till I saw what she had accomplished with the design of her garden and pool at her new home at 469 Half Ave.

This is a most professionally planned and executed garden. It is as lovely as anything you would see in a magazine.

I will start with a description of the pool which has taken much time and energy to plan and build. The stones that form the various levels of the terrace leading to the pool and bordering the goldfish pool are a reddish brown.

These were collected from Ross County. Miriam prefers the natural look that these give.

There will be a waterfall coming down over these stones to add a most pleasing effect.

GOLDFISH live in this pool all year long. They are able to stay here through the winter because it is deep enough. She has a pair of Fan-tail Shubunkin Breeders, some fan-tail goldfish, regular goldfish and some plain Shubunkin. She tried very hard to save some eggs when they spawned this spring, but was unsuccessful.

The use of red and white flowers in plantings is a combination that is a particular favorite with her. I think between Miriam and her mother, Mrs. Earl Weaver, who lives just next door, there is about every kind of shrub and flower you can think of.

There were many Clematis vines on the red wood fence. This fence is board on board design which lets the air through but gives privacy. The clump birch with its wren house was another pretty corner.

To add interest to the pool she had planted water lilies, both hardy and tropical. There was also water lettuce, taro and papyrus growing in the water. The neighborhood children are especially attracted to the fish and pool and enjoy spending time watching them.

This fine gardener is always working with her flowers and garden. She is always rearranging and planning something new. Two new planters are to be added to the front entrance to add to the charm of the gas light that is already there.

As I was leaving, Miriam showed the sentiment I find most often with people who love flowers, she said the gate latches on the outside, come back anytime. "Gardens are to share."

Hornets

Nature Notes Of Yesteryear

By the late
A few days ago, while on a hike, I came to the edge of a thicket of oaks and hickories. On the ground under one of the hickories I found the trampled remains of a hornet's nest.

About 10 feet above my head I saw where the nest had been attached to a limb of one of the trees.

After the leaves fell the nest was exposed. Someone in passing by observed the nest and I supposed he said, "Ah a hornet's nest—Well, I'll destroy that—I don't see the hornets. I'll fix that nest so there won't be any hornets come from it next year." He procured a long pole and with its aid tore the nest from its moorings. He then crushed it under the heels of his heavy boots. I suppose by then went his way with a feeling that he had destroyed a colony of troublesome insects. But did he? No. He had the same idea that so many have, that is he thinks that before the cold has killed the hornets, the queens lay eggs that will hatch in the spring, thus perpetuating the species. So he destroyed the nest.

Nearly everyone seems to think that he must swat the hornet at every opportunity. Yet he is our friend, and he never attacks us unless he feels that he is doing so in self-defense. He has a powerful spear, it is true, and is quite expert in the use of it. But it was given to him to use in hunting, for he is a great and mighty hunter and kills and eats several times his own weight in game each day. He befriends us because one of our worst enemies is his favorite game—the common housefly.

Hornets do not store away food for their young as do other members of their tribe—for instance, the honey-bee. Their young are fed on freshly killed game very much the same as some birds feed their young. So if the man had not destroyed the nest and there had been eggs in that would have hatched in the spring, the young hornets with no one to feed them, would soon die of starvation. Here is what takes place: Just before cold weather sets in all the queens leave the nest and crawl into some dry place and go to sleep till spring. They creep under the loose bark of the trees or into cavities. On finding a place to their liking they bite into the wood and hang on with the tenacity of a bulldog, in other words they hang on by their teeth and sleep.

When the warm days of spring call the bluebirds and the robins from their sojourn in the sunny south, and the violets are in bloom, the hibernating queens come forth from their sleeping places and begin to look for a suitable place to "build a nest. Each queen, having found a place to her liking, constructs a sort of one-room affair containing a few cells in which to lay her eggs. In a few days the eggs hatch, then the mother is kept busy feeding and caring for her young, and also in enlarging the nest so as to accommodate her growing family.

The first brood consists entirely of workers, and just as soon as they have attained their growth, they are put to work. Some are hunters and bring in the food while the rest gather bits of wood which they manufacture into paper and enlarge the nest. Other broods are brought forth and the same process is carried on with them so that by the end of summer the colony is composed of several hundred individuals.

Timely Tips

Prune one-third of older canes from rambler roses as blooms fade.

Start drying herbs and perennials for winter use.

Sow leaf lettuce.

Pinching out tips of chrysanthemums and most kinds of annuals will induce branching and make a more bushy plant.

Increase shrubs by making soft-wood cuttings from mid-June until mid-July. Stuck in sand or vermiculite, the cuttings will root in a few weeks.

If you like to experiment, try planting a not-too-hardy shrub whose range is usually more southerly. Some gardeners have had good luck doing this by giving special protection for the first couple of winters, then letting the plant go on its own.

When the nights are cool or the days rainy, blossoms on the tomato plants will fail to set fruit. To boost bigger and better harvests, there are now hormone sprays. The chemicals encourage more flowers to set fruit with the result that the tomatoes are larger, firmer and often seedless. The fruit will also ripen about three weeks ahead of schedule.

Practically all house plants, especially tropical plants can be kept thriving for weeks by storing them in plastic bags. Obtain plastic bags large enough to accommodate each plant. Large garment bags used by cleaners are suitable for big plants, frozen food bags suit smaller plants. Water each plant thoroughly. For each potted plant, open one bag and pull it down over the leaves to the pot rim. Fasten the plastic bag around the pot with a rubber band and set the pot away from direct sunlight. The bag should not be snug around the plant's foliage. When gardeners return from their vacation, they often find their plants are in better shape than when they left.

Hornets

Nature Notes Of Yesteryear

By the late

A few days ago, while on a hike, I came to the edge of a thicket of oaks and hickories. On the ground under one of the hickories I found the trampled remains of a hornet's nest.

About 10 feet above my head I saw where the nest had been attached to a limb of one of the trees.

After the leaves fell the nest was exposed. Someone in passing by observed the nest and I supposed he said, "Ah a hornet's nest—Well, I'll destroy that—I don't see the horns. I'll fix that nest so there won't be any hornets come from it next year."

He procured a long pole and with its aid tore the nest from its moorings. He then crushed it under the heels of his heavy boots. I suppose he then went his way with a feeling that he had destroyed a colony of troublesome insects. But did he? No. He had the same idea that so many have, that is he thinks that before the cold has killed the hornets, the queens lay eggs that will hatch in the spring, thus perpetuating the species. So he destroyed the nest.

Nearly everyone seems to think that he must swat the hornet at every opportunity. Yet he is our friend, and he never attacks us unless he feels that he is doing so in self-defense. He has a powerful spear, it is true, and is quite expert in the use of it. But it was given to him to use in hunting, for he is a great and mighty hunter and kills and eats several times his own weight in game each day. He befriends us because one of our worst enemies is his favorite game—the common housefly.

Hornets do not store away food for their young as do other members of their tribe—for instance, the honey-bee. Their young are fed on freshly killed game very much the same as some birds feed their young. Some are hunters and bring in the food while the rest gather bits of wood which they manufacture into paper and enlarge the nest. Other broods are brought forth and the same process is carried on with them so that by the end of summer the colony is composed of several hundred individuals.

WELL DESIGNED LANDSCAPING — This terraced pool is evidence that Miriam Weaver, 469 Half Ave. shows artistic ability in planning her pool and garden.

Miriam Weaver's Garden, Pool Artistic In Design

By RUTH MONTELIUS
Garden Editor

I knew Miriam Weaver was talented artistically but didn't realize how versatile her talents were till I saw what she had accomplished with the design of her garden and pool at her new home at 469 Half Ave.

This is a most professionally planned and executed garden. It is as lovely as anything you would see in a magazine.

I will start with a description of the pool which has taken much time and energy to plan and build. The stones that form the various levels of the terrace leading to the pool and bordering the goldfish pool are a reddish brown.

These were collected from Ross County. Miriam prefers the natural look that these give.

There will be a waterfall coming down over these stones to add a most pleasing effect.

GOLDFISH live in this pool all year long. They are able to stay here through the winter because it is deep enough. She has a pair of Fan-tail Shubunkin Breeders, some fan-tail goldfish, regular goldfish and some plain Shubunkin. She tried very hard to save some eggs when they spawned this spring, but was unsuccessful.

The use of red and white flowers in plantings is a combination that is a particular favorite with her. I think between Miriam and her mother, Mrs. Earl Weaver, who lives just next door, there is about every kind of shrub and flower you can think of.

There were many Clematis vines on the red wood fence. This fence is board on board design which lets the air through but gives privacy. The clump birch with its wren house was another pretty corner.

To add interest to the pool she had planted water lilies, both hardy and tropical. There was also water lettuce, taro and papyrus growing in the water. The neighborhood children are especially attracted to the fish and pool and enjoy spending time watching them.

This fine gardener is always working with her flowers and garden. She is always rearranging and planning something new. Two new planters are to be added to the front entrance to add to the charm of the gas light that is already there.

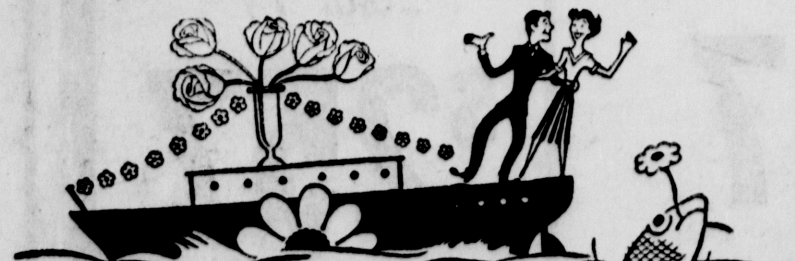

As I was leaving, Miriam showed the sentiment I find most often with people who love flowers, she said the gate latches on the outside, come back anytime. "Gardens are to share."

Boys State Voting Age Bill Eyed

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — The 1,360 citizens of Buckeye Boys State vote this afternoon on a constitutional amendment that would lower Ohio's voting age to 19.

The amendment earlier was approved by the Boys State House and Senate and signed by Gov. Stan P. Silverstein, 17, of Findlay.

The 32nd General Assembly of the American Legion sponsored workshop in self-government was expected to adjourn following an afternoon session. Some 70 bills were introduced into the House and more than half that number in the Senate since the General Assembly began Monday.

Gov. Silverstein returned a bill to abolish the death penalty to the House Wednesday because it called for a referendum on the issue. The governor said he wanted the measure enacted without requiring a vote of the Boys State citizens.

still not acted on the governor's proposed budget which had sliced $50 million from the previous budget.

Earlier Wednesday, the Boys State American Legion Board of Trustees reelected Charles J. Copeland, sales manager of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., as president of the board for another year.

Headquarters spokesmen said the battalion will be moved out by air on or about July 8 and will return to the United States for inactivation.

Boys State Voting Age Bill Eyed

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — The 1,360 citizens of Buckeye Boys State vote this afternoon on a constitutional amendment that would lower Ohio's voting age to 19.

The amendment earlier was approved by the Boys State House and Senate and signed by Gov. Stan P. Silverstein, 17, of Findlay.

The 32nd General Assembly of the American Legion sponsored workshop in self-government was expected to adjourn following an afternoon session. Some 70 bills were introduced into the House and more than half that number in the Senate since the General Assembly began Monday.

Gov. Silverstein returned a bill to abolish the death penalty to the House Wednesday because it called for a referendum on the issue. The governor said he wanted the measure enacted without requiring a vote of the Boys State citizens. The General Assembly had still not acted on the governor's proposed budget which had sliced $50 million from the previous budget.

Earlier Wednesday, the Boys State American Legion Board of Trustees reelected Charles J. Copeland, sales manager of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., as president of the board for another year.

Pony's Delicate Operation Performed As Charity Work

By DICK BIGGS
Associated Press Writer
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A little Shetland pony, worth about $25, is recovering today from a delicate operation performed by a veterinarian who generally confines his efforts to expensive race horses.

And, the pony—dubbed Little Orphan Annie by the veterinarian's wife—is a charity patient.

"A little sentiment can go a long way," Dr. Howard L. Rand said after he and a bone specialist had set the pony's leg.

"Here's a pony worth no more than $25," Rand said, "and in the same ward (barn) I've also got a $108,000 race horse. Later this week, a $125,000 racer will be arriving."

Rand received the pony last Friday. The animal's leg had been broken in suburban Hapeville in a collision with a bus. Calls went out to destroy the 4-year-old Shetland, but the Atlanta Humane Society said wait. It contacted Rand.

"We put a pin through a bone in the pony's leg," the veterinarian explained. "There's a cast on the leg as well, and we've added 10 pounds of traction. It's a rather ingenious device."

Fag Forces Win Fight In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has turned back all attempts to put more teeth in a cigarette labeling bill, although raising possible questions about a ban on broadcast advertising in the process.

This developed Wednesday when the measure, extending the 1965 labeling act for six years, was sent to the Senate by voice vote as the climax to two days of debate.

The Federal Communications Commission, basing its plans on health claims against cigarettes, some time ago proposed a radio and television ban on the advertising providing Congress let it have this authority but this proposal failed.

The Federal Trade Commission also has proposed a stronger health warning be included in cigarette advertising but this is pre-empted by the bill.

The House bill supported by the tobacco industry, would change the wording on the health warning now required on the package, which now says cigarette smoking "may be hazardous to your health."

The new language would say the surgeon general has determined that cigarette smoking "is dangerous to your health and may cause lung cancer or other diseases."

Bill Is Approved To Create Judgeship

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee approved a bill Wednesday that would authorize one additional district judge in the northern and southern Ohio districts.

The bill would create 67 new judgeships throughout the nation.

Claim NATO Could Hold Reds 3 Months

Atom Weapons Said Unnecessary For That Long

BRUSSELS (AP) — The Pentagon's top civilian at the North Atlantic Treaty Organization says the United States and Western Europe could stand off a major conventional Soviet attack for two or three months without resorting to nuclear weapons.

"The amount of time we could hold them off," Timothy W. Stanley said, "could be two or three months rather than two or three days. It would certainly be two or three weeks. Our strength would depend on how much warning time we had to get more U.S. troops here and to mobilize European forces."

This assessment differs from that of British Defense Minister Denis Healey who has been quoted as saying the Soviets could overrun Western Europe in a couple of days.

Stanley was interviewed as he prepared to leave after four years as defense adviser to the U.S. NATO delegation. He will become professor of international relations at the Johns Hopkins University School of Advanced International Studies in Washington and will be succeeded here by Ralph Earle II, former deputy assistant secretary of defense.

Stanley said NATO countries spend more on defense and have more men under arms than the Soviet Union and its European allies.

If the Soviets persisted in an all-out conventional attack, Stanley said, the West eventually would have to resort to the use of nuclear weapons.

Topic for the meeting was: "How should we organize and finance our schools?"

Refreshments were served to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Peck, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Drummond, Mr. and Mrs. David Drummond, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dunkle, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Gifford, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Wright, Mr. and Mrs. John Strawser, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin A. Rittinger.

Brown Urges County Affairs Cabinet Post

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Commissioners and engineers from Ohio's 88 counties were told Wednesday by Ohio Atty. Gen. Paul W. Brown that county affairs should be added to the state's Department of Urban Affairs and the department should be raised to cabinet level.

Brown, speaking at the three-day summer convention of the two groups in Cleveland, said county governments were finding themselves short of money and often "hamstrung by antiquated statutes which do not apply to modern problems."

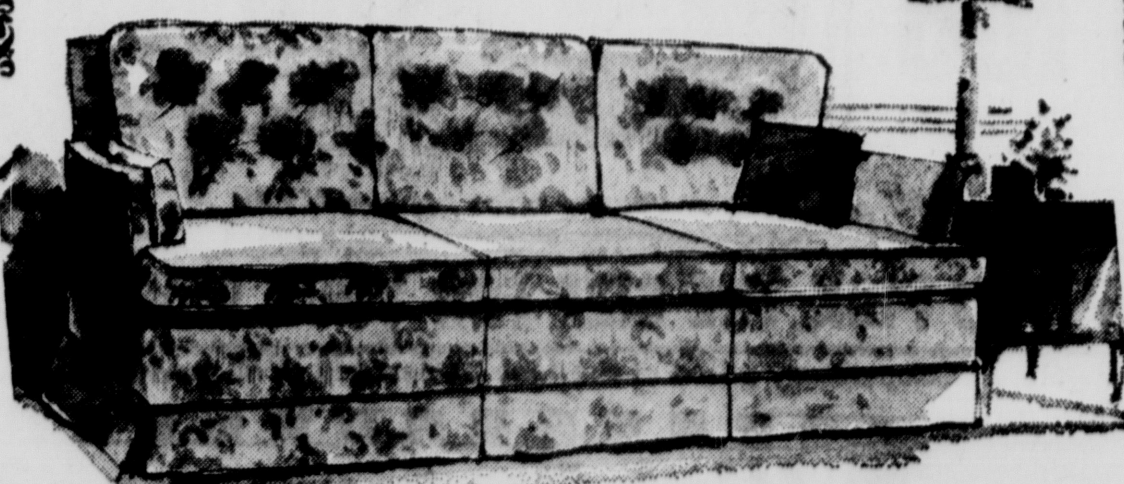

"Until the money problem is solved, we must be alert to every opportunity to achieve a better distribution of available revenues," he said.

He said county governments must be strengthened "if we are to meet the demands of effective law enforcement, citizen services and the raising of our small communities to metropolitan equality."

Rand said he planned to treat Little Orphan Annie for at least a month.

"Then," he said, "I suppose she'll be given to a children's home as a pet."

Rand said he has performed three similar operations, all of them successful, "but this pony was by far the worst. When I got her, she was in terrible shape. I wasn't even sure she would get well enough for me to operate."

The operation was delayed until Tuesday, Rand said, because the pony was in shock, preventing the use of anesthesia.

"You know," Rand said, "after all this work, it would really do me good to see this pony walk out of here."

North Vietnam Troops Step Up Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers marked their fourth anniversary in the Vietnam war today as North Vietnamese troops stepped up attacks on American installations in the areas near Laos and Cambodia.

Spokesmen said the enemy killed 13 Americans and wounded 28 in two fierce assaults early today while 72 North Vietnamese died. U.S. military analysts said captured enemy documents indicated the Communist Command has ordered increased sapper attacks on American bases.

About 200 North Vietnamese infantrymen and sappers assaulted a base of the 1st Brigade, 5th Mechanized Infantry Division, three miles south of the abandoned Khe Sanh combat base, with machine guns, rifles and rocket-propelled grenades. The base is four miles from the Laotian border.

U.S. defenders returned the fire, helicopter gunships rushed to their aid and fighting raged for about two hours. The North Vietnamese withdrew leaving 35 of their dead, some of them strung along the barbed wire perimeter of the base.

U.S. headquarters said 10 Americans were killed and 12 wounded.

Far to the south near the Cambodian border, North Vietnamese troops armed with satchel charges and rocket-propelled grenades attacked a night base camp of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division in War Zone C, 60 miles northwest of Saigon.

That battle too, raged for several hours before American artillery and helicopter gunships drove back the enemy.

Thirty-seven North Vietnamese soldiers and three Americans were reported killed in the fight, and 16 Americans were wounded.

Janis Urges Pay Increase For Department Employees

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The director of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Corrections, Martin A. Janis, has "quietly" recommended $21 million in pay raises for employees in his department.

Early this week Janis sent the Senate Finance Committee 56 pages of amendments calling for more than $9 million in pay raises for employees in his department above the amount included in the administration's pay raise bill.

Under the administration bill, his department would receive $12 million in pay raises over the two-year period which begins July 1.

Janis' action has irritated some committee members, especially Sen. Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron, a member of the subcommittee considering the bill.

"I demand that the director appear and present his amendments," Ocasek said. "He wants $9,944,662 more and yet he won't come before the committee. He was invited to testify Monday, but he didn't show."

Ocasek said he doesn't know why Janis refused to appear. "But I would speculate that he has been discouraged from appearing by the administration."

Janis told the committee on May 6 that because of the high staff turnover at the Ohio Penitentiary and the state's mental hospitals he felt there should be substantial pay increases in his department.

At that time he said he didn't know how much the raises would cost.

The administration contends there is not money in the state treasury to pay higher wages to state employees than the $23 million included in the bill.

The bill provides that all state workers making $4 an hour or less would get a raise.

North Vietnam Troops Step Up Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers marked their fourth anniversary in the Vietnam war today as North Vietnamese troops stepped up attacks on American installations in the areas near Laos and Cambodia.

Spokesmen said the enemy killed 13 Americans and wounded 28 in two fierce assaults early today while 72 North Vietnamese died. U.S. military analysts said captured enemy documents indicated the Communist Command has ordered increased sapper attacks on American bases.

About 200 North Vietnamese infantrymen and sappers assaulted a base of the 1st Brigade, 5th Mechanized Infantry Division, three miles south of the abandoned Khe Sanh combat base, with machine guns, rifles and rocket-propelled grenades. The base is four miles from the Laotian border.

U.S. defenders returned the fire, helicopter gunships rushed to their aid and fighting raged for about two hours. The North Vietnamese withdrew leaving 35 of their dead, some of them strung along the barbed wire perimeter of the base.

U.S. headquarters said 10 Americans were killed and 12 wounded.

Far to the south near the Cambodian border, North Vietnamese troops armed with satchel charges and rocket-propelled grenades attacked a night base camp of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division in War Zone C, 60 miles northwest of Saigon.

That battle too, raged for several hours before American artillery and helicopter gunships drove back the enemy.

Thirty-seven North Vietnamese soldiers and three Americans were reported killed in the fight, and 16 Americans were wounded.

Janis Urges Pay Increase For Department Employees

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The director of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Corrections, Martin A. Janis, has "quietly" recommended $21 million in pay raises for employees in his department.

Early this week Janis sent the Senate Finance Committee 56 pages of amendments calling for more than $9 million in pay raises for employees in his department above the amount included in the administration's pay raise bill.

Under the administration bill, his department would receive $12 million in pay raises over the two-year period which begins July 1.

Janis' action has irritated some committee members, especially Sen. Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron, a member of the subcommittee considering the bill.

"I demand that the director appear and present his amendments," Ocasek said. "He wants $9,944,662 more and yet he won't come before the committee. He was invited to testify Monday, but he didn't show."

Ocasek said he doesn't know why Janis refused to appear. "But I would speculate that he has been discouraged from appearing by the administration."

Janis told the committee on May 6 that because of the high staff turnover at the Ohio Penitentiary and the state's mental hospitals he felt there should be substantial pay increases in his department.

At that time he said he didn't know how much the raises would cost.

The administration contends there is not money in the state treasury to pay higher wages to state employees than the $23 million included in the bill.

The bill provides that all state workers making $4 an hour or less would get a raise.

Report Riot At Kansas State Pen

LANSING, Kan. (AP) — Rioting broke out in a cellhouse at the Kansas State Penitentiary Wednesday.

Shouting could be heard in the cellhouse, which houses about 250 inmates, and windows were being smashed.

Charles McAtee, state director of penal institutions, was en route to the penitentiary from Topeka and Warden Sherman Crouse said no information would be released until McAtee arrived.

Officers of the Leavenworth County sheriff's department and the Kansas Highway Patrol gathered outside the prison, and the Leavenworth city police brought out a supply of gas masks.

The Leavenworth County Civil Defense organization also sent gas masks to the prison.

The disturbance was in "A" cellhouse at the southwest corner of the institution.

Genius - Level Negro Youth To Work For Other People

DETROIT (AP) — Melvin Barry White is 14 and lives in Detroit's Inner City.

This fall, the Negro youth will become the youngest student ever to enroll at Wayne State University. Barry, as he prefers to be called, has a genius level I.Q. of 175.

"I believe in the philosophy of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and the way he was willing to go against all evil and violence," Barry says. "I like Charlie Brown, too, because he's always getting in and out of things."

Barry hopes to be either a minister or a gynecologist when he grows up.

"My mother has been ill most of her life," he explains, "and I would like to be able to help her and other women."

Until his classes start in September, Barry will be working on a university research project on Afro-American authors. He has a scholarship arranged through the Higher Education Opportunities Committee of Detroit.

President William Keast welcomed Barry to university life in his campus office during a brief ceremony Tuesday.

To newsmen, Barry confided that Evangelist Billy Graham is his hero because, "Mr. Graham is trying to do something for the Christian world."

Barry, a high tenor, has sung on radio and television and has appeared at national Baptist conventions.

5 Senate Republicans Still Back Lindsay

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five leading Senate Republicans moderates say they still support New York Mayor John V. Lindsay for re-election and that his national political future will remain bright if he wins in November.

Declaring continued backing for Lindsay despite his loss in Tuesday's GOP city primary were Sens. Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts, Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, Charles McMathias Jr. of Maryland and the two New York senators, Jacob K. Javits and Charles E. Goodell.

Although he lost to conservative State Sen. John Marchi in the Republican primary, Lindsay will be on the ballot for re-election as the Liberal party candidate.

Mathias predicted Lindsay's campaign against Marchi and Mario Procaccino, the conservative Democratic primary victor, would be in the tradition of the late Fiorello H. La Guardia, "a true fusion ticket." La Guardia was mayor of New York from 1934 to 1946.

The Maryland senator, after speaking with Lindsay by telephone, said: "He's full of confidence, and I believe justified confidence."

Goodell, calling Lindsay "a Republican symbol of urban commitment nationally," predicted "almost a nonpartisan election," with many leading New York Democrats supporting Lindsay.

Javits, who plans a full statement of his position at a New York news conference later in the week, said "He deserves to win and I expect that he will."

Hatfield, Javits, Brooke Goodell and Mathias were among the 19 GOP senators who supported Lindsay in his primary fight.

A number of those on the list, including Sens. Charles Percy of Illinois and Hugh Scott and Richard S. Schweiker of Pennsylvania, declined to take an immediate stand.

But Percy said he was "most disappointed."

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Wednesday night in Pittsburgh the Nixon administration would support Marchi.

Earlier, White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said President Nixon would not comment on the election.

The official GOP party apparatus took its position behind

Marchi, the party standard-bearer.

Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton of Maryland, the chairman of the Republican National Committee who had declared a "personal" preference for Lindsay, issued a statement saying "It is of course, the policy of the Republican National Committee to support the party's nominee."

Likewise, two GOP senators, Marlow W. Cook of Kentucky and Jack Miller of Iowa, said that while they backed Lindsay in the primary they would now support Marchi because he is the Republican candidate.

Miller said Lindsay suffered a setback but added "It's not as much of a setback as Dick Nixon's loss of the California governorship in 1962."

Girls Staters Set For Work On Legislation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — With the inauguration over, Buckeye Girls State legislators read themselves today for an avalanche of bills designed to fulfill campaign pledges of Gov. Mary Lee Martello, 17, of Ash-tabula.

Ohio Supreme Court Justice C. William O'Neill administered the oath of office to Miss Martello and her cabinet Wednesday night.

The Girls State General Assembly was expected to receive later this week bills that would create four new state bureaus; Beautiful Ohio, Educational Opportunities, Youth Concern Commission and Ohio Commission of Social Advancement.

During her campaign, Miss Martello said the Beautiful Ohio bureau would study pollution and conservations; the Youth Concern Commission would study voting age, drugs, etc.; and the Social Advancement Commission would look into state hospitals and the state penal system.

2 Black Panther Dropouts Talk To Senate Probers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two dropouts from the Black Panthers were called to Capitol Hill today by Senate investigators looking for possible links between the militant black power group and campus and urban violence.

As was the case in the first two days of hearings, the Senate permanent subcommittee on investigations, chaired by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., declined to reveal in advance the names of the witnesses called to testify on the leadership and plans of the Black Panthers.

The panel's previous hearings were devoted to the radical Students for a Democratic Society, which has also come under attack by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover for allegedly following a Communist blueprint to disrupt war production.

Hoover, writing in a labor union newspaper, said the summer "work-in" manual issued by SDS is actually a document originally drafted by pro-Red Chinese American Communists.

The Associated Press last month described the "work-in" manual in detail, including plans to persuade workers to stop war production.

"Closing down our schools is not enough," the SDS instructions said. "Workers produce and move the goods that are used in the war and it is they who are primarily forced to fight the war. They can stop it."

In writing to the Machinists, Hoover said SDS wants to convince workers "that this country is 'rotten,' 'sick,' and 'dis-eased,' and therefore should be destroyed."

"The SDS has no respect for unions and their efforts to protect the workers and work for the best interests of their country. To the SDS, unions are part of the 'Establishment,' and should be destroyed along with the government, the military, private industry and law enforcement," the FBI chief said.

More testimony about alleged Communist involvement in the SDS came Tuesday from a detective chief and a police infiltrator who appeared before the Senate subcommittee.

Capt. Daniel C. Myre of the Michigan State Police detectives identified numerous SDS leaders as self-avowed Communists who advocated revolution in the United States.

Letter Writer Also A Thrifty Person

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Kenneth Kozberg, 18, St. Paul, isn't shy about stating his opinions—and he's thrifty too.

Kenneth penned a letter to Gov. Harold LeVander, mildly taking issue with a reference by the governor to a popular song in a recent commencement speech. Kenneth added "P.S. I am also the clerk at Highland Drug Center. Your slides are ready."

SCS WINNER — Vanessa Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mills, Route 4, was awarded a plaque for winning the junior division of the Pickaway Soil and Water Conservation District Exhibits and Competition. Her project dealt with "The Uninvited Guest", algae in farm ponds. She demonstrated ways to kill algae using samples from ponds around Pickaway County. Mrs. Olive Neff, secretary of the local SCS office, is presenting the plaque to Miss Mills.

Goodell, calling Lindsay "a Republican symbol of urban commitment nationally," predicted "almost a nonpartisan election," with many leading New York Democrats supporting Lindsay.

Javits, who plans a full statement of his position at a New York news conference later in the week, said "He deserves to win and I expect that he will."

Hatfield, Javits, Brooke Goodell and Mathias were among the 19 GOP senators who supported Lindsay in his primary fight.

A number of those on the list, including Sens. Charles Percy of Illinois and Hugh Scott and Richard S. Schweiker of Pennsylvania, declined to take an immediate stand.

But Percy said he was "most disappointed."

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Wednesday night in Pittsburgh the Nixon administration would support Marchi.

Earlier, White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said President Nixon would not comment on the election.

The official GOP party apparatus took its position behind

Marchi, the party standard-bearer.

Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton of Maryland, the chairman of the Republican National Committee who had declared a "personal" preference for Lindsay, issued a statement saying "It is of course, the policy of the Republican National Committee to support the party's nominee."

Likewise, two GOP senators, Marlow W. Cook of Kentucky and Jack Miller of Iowa, said that while they backed Lindsay in the primary they would now support Marchi because he is the Republican candidate.

Miller said Lindsay suffered a setback but added "It's not as much of a setback as Dick Nixon's loss of the California governorship in 1962."

Girls Staters Set For Work On Legislation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — With the inauguration over, Buckeye Girls State legislators readied themselves today for an avalanche of bills designed to fulfill campaign pledges of Gov. Mary Lee Martello, 17, of Ash-tabula.

Ohio Supreme Court Justice C. William O'Neill administered the oath of office to Miss Martello and her cabinet Wednesday night.

The Girls State General Assembly was expected to receive later this week bills that would create four new state bureaus: Beautiful Ohio, Educational Opportunities, Youth Concern Commission and Ohio Commission of Social Advancement.

During her campaign, Miss Martello said the Beautiful Ohio bureau would study pollution and conservations; the Youth Concern Commission would study voting age, drugs, etc.; and the Social Advancement Commission would look into state hospitals and the state penal system.

2 Black Panther Dropouts Talk To Senate Probers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two dropouts from the Black Panthers were called to Capitol Hill today by Senate investigators looking for possible links between the militant black power group and campus and urban violence.

As was the case in the first two days of hearings, the Senate permanent subcommittee on investigations, chaired by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., declined to reveal in advance the names of the witnesses called to testify on the leadership and plans of the Black Panthers.

The panel's previous hearings were devoted to the radical Students for a Democratic Society, which has also come under new attack by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover for allegedly following a Communist blueprint to disrupt war production.

Hoover, writing in a labor union newspaper, said the summer "work-in" manual issued by SDS is actually a document originally drafted by pro-Red Chinese American Communists.

The Associated Press last month described the "work-in" manual in detail, including plans to persuade workers to stop war production.

"Closing down our schools is not enough," the SDS instructions said. "Workers produce and move the goods that are used in the war and it is they who are primarily forced to fight the war. They can stop it."

In writing to the Machinists, Hoover said SDS wants to convince workers "that this country is 'rotten,' 'sick,' and 'dis-eased,' and therefore should be destroyed."

"The SDS has no respect for unions and their efforts to protect the workers and work for the best interests of their country. To the SDS, unions are part of the 'Establishment,' and should be destroyed along with the government, the military, private industry and law enforcement," the FBI chief said.

More testimony about alleged Communist involvement in the SDS came Tuesday from a detective chief and a police infiltrator who appeared before the Senate subcommittee.

Capt. Daniel C. Myre of the Michigan State Police detectives identified numerous SDS leaders as self-avowed Communists who advocated revolution in the United States.

Letter Writer Also A Thrifty Person

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Kenneth Kozberg, 18, St. Paul, isn't shy about stating his opinions—and he's thrifty too.

Kenneth penned a letter to Gov. Harold LeVander, mildly taking issue with a reference by the governor to a popular song in a recent commencement speech. Kenneth added "P.S. I am also the clerk at Highland Drug Center. Your slides are ready."

SCS WINNER — Vanessa Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mills, Route 4, was awarded a plaque for winning the junior division of the Pickaway Soil and Water Conservation District Exhibits and Competition. Her project dealt with "The Uninvited Guest", algae in farm ponds. She demonstrated ways to kill algae using samples from ponds around Pickaway County. Mrs. Olive Neff, secretary of the local SCS office, is presenting the plaque to Miss Mills.

WILLIE OR WON'T HE GET A HIT?—Well, he won't for the Reds came up with this unusual protective shift with Willie McCovey of the Giants at bat during game in San Francisco. McCovey, leading the N.L. in homers and hitting .350, grounded out to first baseman Lee May. The Reds put shortstop Darrel Chaney in left center, other outfielders moved around with Bob Tolman on the right field line. Infield shifted to the right, too.

Cincinnati Reds Get Revenge By Burying SF Giants, 11-2

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "They've got the best lineup in the league—probably in all baseball," says Giants' Manager Clyde King of the power-packed Cincinnati Reds' batting order.

Temporarily smothered by Juan Marichal's shutout Tuesday night, the Reds struck back with a vengeance Wednesday, burying the Giants 11-2 behind an 18-hit avalanche.

The teams conclude their four game series today.

The Giants open a four-game series in Atlanta Friday night. First baseman Lee May, Cincinnati's seventh leading hitter at .281, showed the way Wednesday with a pair of two-run homers.

Tony Perez added a two-run homer and belted four hits, boosting his average to .340.

But even that isn't tops for the rampaging Reds. Alex Johnson leads the natters with a .354 mark, followed by John Bench, .350; Perez; Bob Tolman, .333; and Pete Rose, .301.

"I don't mind being the fifth best hitter on this club, so long as we win," offered Rose, whose .335 mark won the National League batting title last season.

"I'm probably the only hitter in a slump and still batting .300," he added. "I'm swinging like an old lady, but maybe I'll start getting hot when some of the other guys tail off."

Almost overlooked by the impressive offensive display was the five-hit pitching of veteran right-hander Tony Cloninger, 4-8, the first Red to hurl a complete game since June 3.

"If our pitching starts to come around, we'll be all right," understated manager Dave Bristol. Rose said the skipper was a prime reason for the Reds' buoyancy, despite a 4.30 team ERA entering the game.

"Bristol has been great," declared Rose. "Everyone knows we've had some pitching problems, but Bristol feels if the opposition scores seven runs, we have got to go out and score eight."

Losers Ray Sadecki, 3-6, helped himself to a 1-0 lead in the second when his fielder's choice grounder scored Ken Henderson, who had singled.

Cloninger's single triggered a Cincinnati four-run rally in the fourth. May capped the uprising with his first homer and ripped his second off reliever Ron Kline in the seventh.

The two homers gave him 20 for the season, just one behind league-leader Willie McCovey of the Giants. Tolman's seventh triple of the season and Perez's 13th homer highlighted a three-run rally in the eighth.

Golf Clash Down To 56

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The championship flight of the 11th annual Mid-America Junior Open Golf Tournament at the Possum Run course here was narrowed to eight following Wednesday's match play. Only 56 youths remain in the tournament.

Today's morning quarter-final pairings were: Gary Murray of Jackson vs. Doug Mowery of Oak Hill, Mich.; Todd Crandall of Ashtabula vs. Steve Groves, Lancaster; Neil Gerhart, Lexington vs. Don Kepple, Akron; and Greg Poston, Logan vs. Curt Sampson, Hudson.

Semifinals were scheduled for this afternoon with the 36-hole final on tap Friday.

Groves, who was third in the state high school tournament and a sectional qualifier for the U.S. Open, is the only youth in the championship flight to have advanced this far in previous tournaments.

Sam McDowell, Indians Win, 2-1

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Boston Red Sox pitcher Ray Jarvis must wonder what it takes to stop Sam McDowell of the Cleveland Indians from winning these days. He thought he had the solution Wednesday night, but lost, 2-1.

While Jarvis kept the Indians at bay with a three-hitter, McDowell gave up nine hits, but in the words of Indians manager Alvin Dark, "had the big pitch when he needed it."

In softball action last night, Logan Elm Village defeated the Independents, 11-6, at Ted Lewis Park.

Ryun Ready For Mile Run In NCTFC

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Kansas miler Jim Ryun, winner in what his coach called a four-hour game of Russian roulette, was set for a try at history as the 48th National Collegiate Track and Field Championships opened here today.

"I held my breath for four hours," said Coach Bob Timmons, referring to the scratch meeting held Wednesday to finalize entries in all events.

Ryun, the world's best in the mile run, also wanted to compete in the three-mile event. And his team needed that effort to boost its chances of taking the NCAA team title.

That was the rub. If as many as 30 of the 40-odd initial entries decided to actually run in the three-mile event, officials said there would have to be a qualifying run—and it was scheduled only 15 minutes before the mile preliminaries.

"It was like Russian roulette," Timmons said. "It would have killed Jim's chances in the mile and probably wiped out our team chances. Our kids would never have forgiven me."

The coach waited until the last few minutes to declare Ryun for the three-mile event, and the gamble worked. Only 23 others stayed in.

List, Pritchard Win In League

The 3-Putters won scoring honors in the Upper Lansdowne Men's League last night with 19 points.

Low gross honors went to Joe List, who shot a 39. Low net went to Jerry Pritchard.

Members of the 3-Putters are Joe Weiler, Ray Bullock, Dick Buskirk and Tony Preidas.

The Parbustars are in the number one slot with 89 points. Jack Hutchison, Gayle Leatherwood, Dick Robbins and Jim Dawson are on the winning team.

The 4-Putters are holding down second place with 84 points while the Duffers have 77.

Four Oaks Winner Of Scioto Feature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Four Oaks, who won six of nine starts last year at Scioto Downs, began his 1969 season with a victory Wednesday night in the featured $1,200 conditioned pace.

Owned and driven by Robert Seabrook of St. Paris, the winner cruised the mile in 2:05 3/5 and won by 2 1/2 lengths.

Four Oaks paid $3.80, $3.40 and $2.60 while Success June placed for $6.80 and $3.20. Bob Car Litch was third, paying $2.80.

The 7-1 daily double, Success Ricky and Westleigh's Joy, paid $40.20.

Attendance was 4,383. The handle was $191,270.

Oakland Smashes Royals, 16-4, 9-2

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Kansas City Royals can't say they weren't warned when Reggie Jackson came to town. He is just not a singles hitter.

Ruth-like Reggie proved it again Wednesday night with two more home runs, his 25th and 26th, in another Oakland onslaught that sent the A's wincing to a two-night doubleheader sweep over the Royals 16-4 and 9-2.

Only last weekend, the Royals must have read about Jackson's long-ball prowess in Boston where Oakland scored 38 runs to sweep a three-game series with Reggie hitting four homers and, in one game, driving in 10 runs. Against the Royals, he hit three in four games, giving him nine in the last nine games and 11 for the month of June.

With Jackson and the A's absent, the scoring sloughed off elsewhere in the American League as Baltimore beat Washington 3-1, Minnesota topped California 3-1, the New York Yankees stopped Detroit 4-2, Cleveland edged Boston 2-1 and the Chicago White Sox handled Seattle 7-3 before losing 6-5 in 11 innings in another twin-

Jackson, with a chance to become the only man other than Babe Ruth to hit 30 homers by the end of June, hit his first homer of the night with a man on in the first game, keying a three-run eruption in the fifth inning that put the A's ahead 7-5. From there it was all downhill as Chuck Dobson coasted to his seventh victory against five defeats.

Jackson also weakened momentarily in the game, settling for a run-scoring single. It was only his 13th single of the season, half of his homer total. He also has 13 doubles and two triples for a .270 batting average.

The Royals tried another approach against the 23-year-old slugger in the nightcap—they hit him with a pitch in the first inning. But the A's went on to score five times in the inning, twice on bases loaded walks and once by another hit batter with the bases loaded.

And when Kansas City went back to pitching to Jackson, he hammered No. 26 in the sixth inning. All that was more than enough for John Odom, 9-3, who scattered nine hits.

In contrast, Baltimore did it again with pitching as Jim Hardin, 3-3, and Dick Hall combined on a four-hitter for the Orioles' sixth straight victory and 26th in 32 games. It was the 11th four-hitter for their staff to go along with three three-hitters, three two-hitters and one one-hitter.

The Orioles managed only five hits, but one was Boog Powell's two-run homer and another was a triple by Paul Blair, who scored on Frank Robinson's sacrifice fly.

Ray Kaat, 7-5, scattered eight hits for Minnesota and hit a home run, but needed Harmon Killebrew's two-run, tie-breaking double in the eighth inning for his victory.

Clemente, Pirates Beat Cubs, 3-2; End Series

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The citizens of the Puerto Rican town of Carolina will have to wait a little longer for their future mayor to put down his glove and throw his hat in the ring.

There's just too much baseball left in Roberto Clemente for him to quit being a baseball player and start being a politician.

Clemente displayed his baseball value again Wednesday night as the Pittsburgh Pirates edged the Chicago Cubs 3-2 and completed a sweep of their four-game series.

He tied the game with a two-run homer in the eighth inning, then doubled in the 10th and scored the winning run as Jose Martinez singled.

Elsewhere in the National League, Houston defeated Atlanta 3-1, the New York Mets blanked Philadelphia 2-0, Montreal whipped St. Louis 5-1, Cincinnati trounced San Francisco 11-2 and Los Angeles knocked off San Diego 10-1.

Clemente, in his 15th season with the Pirates, was asked to run for mayor of his hometown this year, but he declined, saying he prefers to wait until his baseball running days are over before he runs for public office.

The veteran right fielder has talked of retirement. "I don't want to go through another year like the last one," he said. "I began to lose my desire to play because of the pain in my shoulder."

"Anyway, the time has to come when I won't play anymore. It could come soon, I really don't know. I know traveling gets more tiresome now than it did five or six years ago. When I pull a muscle in my leg, it doesn't heal as quickly."

But Clemente appears to be healthy now. His bat certainly is. Coming back from a rare sub-300 season in 1968, the four-time National League batting champion is hitting .311 with 39 runs batted in.

Against the Cubs, he came to bat in the eighth with the Pirates losing 2-0 and Carl Taylor at first with a walk and promptly rapped a Ken Holtzman pitch for his ninth homer. He picked on reliever Phil Regan for his double in the 10th and scored as Martinez singled.

Denny Lemaster pitched and batted Houston past Atlanta, limiting the Braves to five hits and igniting a winning two-run rally in the ninth with his first homer of the season. George Stone suffered his first loss after winning six times.

Jerry Koosman stopped Philadelphia on four hits and extended his brilliant pitching streak in which he has allowed just four earned runs and 27 hits in 51 innings. Ed Kranepool and Wayne Garrett singled home the Met runs.

Montreal shut out by St. Louis the previous two nights, exploded against Dave Giusti and kept the Cardinals from reaching .500. Mike Wegener scattered nine hits, blanking the Cards until Tim McCarver homered in the ninth.

Carnesecca Joins Nets

NEW YORK (AP) — For $175,000, the New York Nets of the American Basketball Association lured Lou Carnesecca away from the collegiate coaching ranks, but they will have to wait for one year for the St. John's, N.Y., coach to take over.

Carnesecca, 44, signed a five-year contract with the ABA club Wednesday for a reported $35,000 per season. The colorful Louie will also be general manager and vice president of the Nets, starting with the 1970-71 season.

"This was an opportunity I just couldn't pass up," Carnesecca said. "It looks like a chance to get in on the ground floor of something that could grow into something pretty good."

For the coming 1969-70 season the Nets coaching job will be held by York Larese, a former North Carolina University player, who also played under Carnesecca in high school.

Carnesecca has one year remaining on a five-year pact at St. John's, and although offered a release by the university, he said he would honor his contract.

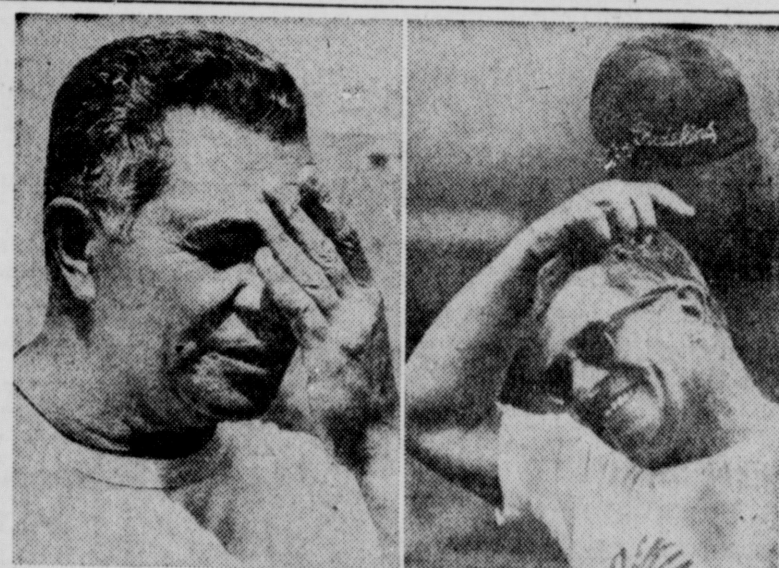

The Nets were coached by Max Zaslofsky during their first two years. He quit at the end of last season in which the New York team finished last in the East Division.

Carnesecca, in his four years at St. John's, registered an 83-27 record and his Redmen reached post-season playoffs in all four seasons.

Eastwick, Powell Both Sign With Reds

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pitcher Rawlings Eastwick and shortstop Barry Powell, both selected in the recent baseball draft, have signed with the Cincinnati Reds, scouting director Joe Bowen announced today.

Eastwick, of Hadonfield, N. J., was the Reds' No. 3 choice. Powell, of Pleasanton, Tex., was picked in the sixth round. Both are 18.

PUTTING ON A CON-VINCE-ING SHOW—Returning to coaching after a year's retirement, Vince Lombardi, the Washington Redskins' new mentor, is the whole show as he sends team through special pre-training in Washington.

Lee Trevino Feels Better Despite Being Ex-Champion

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — Lee Trevino is an ex-champion and not too pleased with it. But the pressure is off and the laughing Latino is his old happy-go-lucky self.

He was noticeably somber and subdued and troubled with an aching left knee last week when he failed to make the cut in defense of his United States Open title, eventually won by Orville Moody.

"It's not the pressure," the merry Mexican said today before teeing off in the first round of the $150,000 Kemper Open Golf Tournament.

"It's the responsibility. I felt a lot of personal responsibility. Now there's a new United States Open champion and I don't feel it so much. I've still got a lot of commitments, but I'm going to take some rest after the British Open."

Trevino, a swarthy, grinning character who leaped into the elite group of golf's magic names with his Open triumph a year ago, as usual, made a joke of his knee problems.

There have been reports he may have to have an operation to correct tendon problems in the left knee, suffered when he stepped on a ball about two months ago. Lee scoffed.

"I've got it all taped up," he said.

"But it all depends on how I'm playing. If I'm playing good, it doesn't bother me. If I'm not playing good, it hurts like hell."

How does it feel now? "Great. It looks like I've got it all back. I'm hitting the driver and the irons good. My putting isn't too good, but I really haven't been trying in practice."

Decathlon Site, Date Changed After Dispute

MIAMI (AP) — The site and date of the National Decathlon Championships has been switched out of concern for competitors, says an AAU official, rather than pressure from three top stars who threatened a boycott.

Hilmer Lodge, the AAU track and field chairman, said Wednesday night the meet was shifted from Salina, Kan., July 4-5 to Bakersfield, Calif., June 27-28.

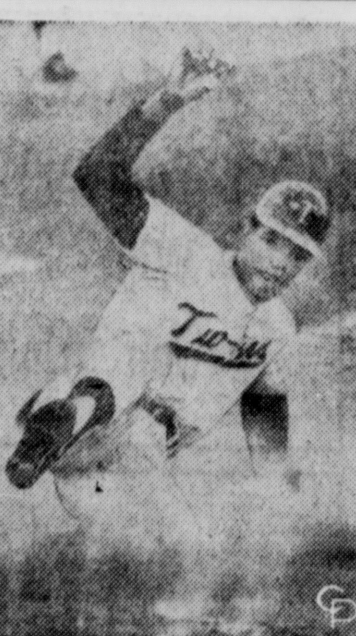

He said the action was taken solely for the purpose of providing athletes more time between the AAU event and the U.S.-Russian-British Commonwealth meet July 18-19 in Los Angeles. However, last week three top decathlon performers, including Olympic champion Bill Toomey, complained about the conditions at Salina and the lack of rest time between the AAU event and competition in Los Angeles.

No Special Turf For Cincy Stadium

CINCINNATI (AP) — Looks as though the $44 million river-front stadium that the Cincinnati Reds and Bengals will call home will have a plain sod field.

Contractors have been told to forget about ideas of artificial turf and go ahead with the sod.

The problem is money—specifically, finding an agreeable formula or percentage plan for the Reds, Bengals and the city in splitting the $400,000 artificial turf price tag.

RIDING THE ROD'S HOME—The Twins' fine infielder, Rod Carew, who leads the majors in hitting, adds another record book note to his sensational year by stealing home, his sixth of the year. This tied him with Ty Cobb of Detroit and Bob Roth of Cleveland who set the A.L. mark 50-odd years ago. The major record is seven, held by Pete Reiser.

Miss Conna Adios To Face Overcall

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Miss Conna Adios, a 4-year-old filly from Maryland, tries tonight for a major upset in harness racing by beating Overcall in the $50,000 National Championship Pace at Yonkers Raceway.

Overcall, a 6-year-old stallion driven by Del Insko for owner Mrs. Helen Buck of Far Hills, N.J., is unbeaten this year and seems to have the race at his mercy for a sweep of Yonkers $159,500 International Pacing Series.

Off his impressive victories in the 1 1/2-mile International two weeks ago and the 1 mile Good Time Pace last week, Overcall is the logical 1-5 morning line choice to win again tonight, especially since he leaves from the coveted No. 1 post.

'Red' Kelly Slated To Coach Penguins

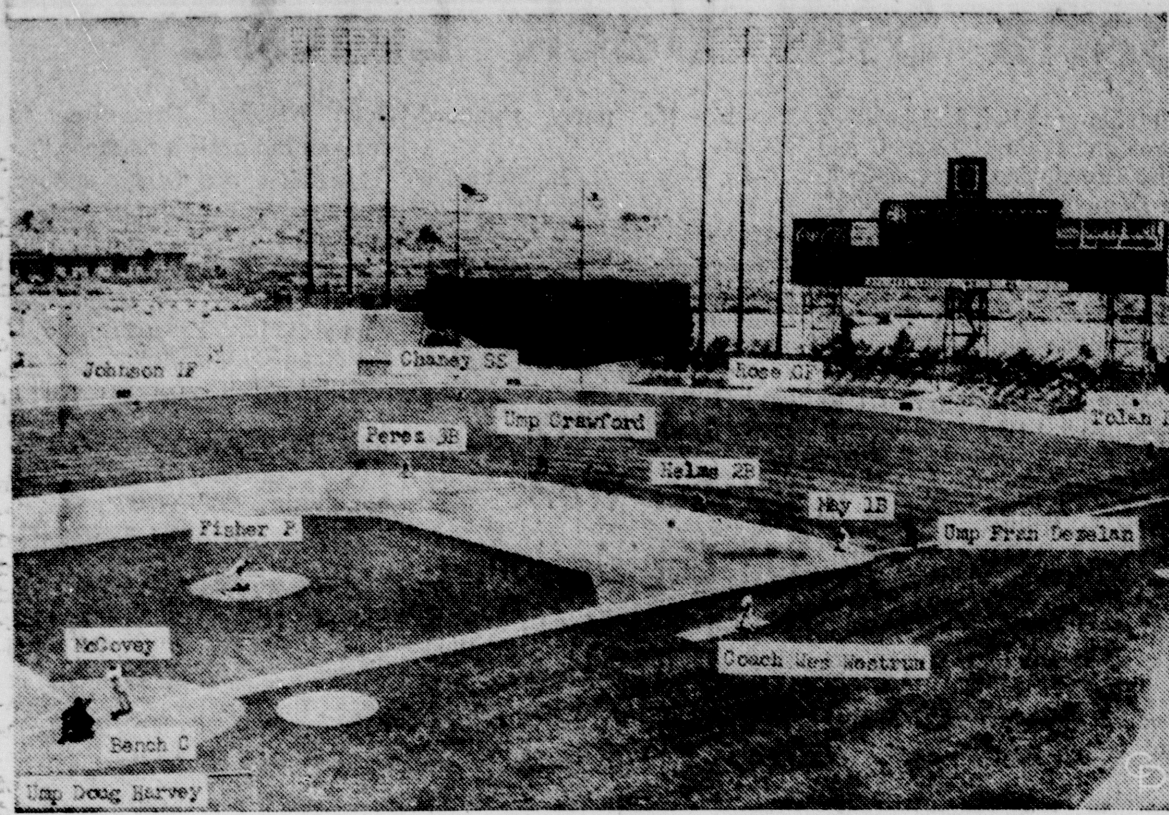

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette said Wednesday night it has learned that Leonard "Red" Kelly, former head coach of the Los Angeles Kings, will be the new coach of the Pittsburgh Penguins of the National Hockey League.

The paper said Kelly, a forward and defenseman in the NHL for 20 seasons, would be named successor to George "Red" Sullivan early next week.

Football Players 'Go On Strike'

TORONTO (AP) — What management termed a strike by 17 players of the Toronto Argonauts posed the question of what to do about it for the Canadian Football League today.

The players, including quarterback Wally Gabler, halfback Bill Symons, the outstanding football player in Canada last year, and pass-catching sensation Bobby Taylor, were suspended Wednesday for failure to report last Monday to pre-season training camp. At least 10 others are liable for suspension Saturday if they fail to report to the Aurora, Ont. camp.

Rose A Partner In Cincy Purchase

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pete Rose of the Cincinnati Reds is a part of a newly formed partnership planning to purchase about $3 million worth of downtown Cincinnati, it was learned today.

Plans call for the partnership to transform an almost block-long section of Fountain Square, in the heart of the city, into a two-level restaurant and a sidewalk cafe.

Other partners are Hy Ullner, local financier, and Reuven Katz, local attorney.

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The championship flight of the 11th annual Mid-America Junior Open Golf Tournament at the Possum Run course here was narrowed to eight following Wednesday's match play.

Only 56 youths remain in the tournament.

There's just too much baseball left in Roberto Clemente for him to quit being a baseball player and start being a politician.

Clemente displayed his baseball value again Wednesday night as the Pittsburgh Pirates edged the Chicago Cubs 3-2 and completed a sweep of their four-game series.

He tied the game with a two-run homer in the eighth inning, then doubled in the 10th and scored the winning run as Jose Martinez singled.

Elsewhere in the National League, Houston defeated Atlanta 3-1. The New York Mets blanked Philadelphia 2-0, Montreal whipped St. Louis 3-1, Cincinnati trounced San Francisco 11-2 and Los Angeles knocked off San Diego 10-1.

Clemente, in his 15th season with the Pirates, was asked to run for mayor of his hometown this year, but he declined, saying he prefers to wait until his baseball running days are over before he runs for public office.

The veteran right fielder has talked of retirement.

"I don't want to go through another year like the last one," he said. "I began to lose my desire to play because of the pain in my shoulder."

"Anyway, the time has to come when I won't play anymore. It could come soon, I really don't know. I know traveling gets more tiresome now than it did five or six years ago. When I pull a muscle in my leg, it doesn't heal as quickly."

But Clemente appears to be healthy now. His bat certainly is. Coming back from a rare sub-.300 season in 1968, the four-time National League batting champion is hitting .311 with 59 runs batted in.

Against the Cubs, he came to bat in the eighth with the Pirates losing 2-0 and Carl Taylor at first with a walk and promptly rapped a Ken Holtzman pitch for his ninth homer. He picked on reliever Phil Regan for his double in the 10th and scored as Martinez singled.

Denny Lemaster pitched and batted Houston past Atlanta, limiting the Braves to five hits and igniting a winning two-run rally in the ninth with his first homer of the season. George Stone suffered his first loss after winning six times.

Jerry Koosman stopped Philadelphia on four hits and extended his brilliant pitching streak in which he has allowed just four earned runs and 27 hits in 51 innings. Ed Kranepool and Wayne Garrett singled home the Met runs.

Montreal shut out by St. Louis the previous two nights, exploded against Dave Giusti and kept the Cardinals from reaching .500. Mike Wegener scattered nine hits, blanking the Cards until Tim McCarver homered in the ninth.

Lee May provided the Cincinnati power against San Francisco, clouting his 19th and 20th homers, each with a man on. Tony Cloninger gave up just five hits.

Don Sutton pitched a three-hitter against San Diego for his 10th victory. Wes Parker started the Dodgers off with a two-run homer against Johnny Podres in the first inning.

Carnesecca Joins Nets

NEW YORK (AP) — For $175,000, the New York Nets of the American Basketball Association lured Lou Carnesecca away from the collegiate coaching ranks, but they will have to wait for one year for the St. John's, N.Y. coach to take over. Carnesecca, 44, signed a five-year contract with the ABA club Wednesday for a reported $35,000 per season. The colorful Louie will also be general manager and vice president of the Nets, starting with the 1970-71 season.

"This was an opportunity I just couldn't pass up," Carnesecca said. "It looks like a chance to get in on the ground floor of something that could grow into something pretty good."

For the coming 1969-70 season the Nets coaching job will be held by York Larese, a former North Carolina University player, who also played under Carnesecca in high school.

Carnesecca has one year remaining on a five-year pact at St. John's, and although offered a release by the university, he said he would honor his contract.

The Nets were coached by Max Zaslofsky during their first two years. He quit at the end of last season in which the New York team finished last in the East Division.

Carnesecca, in his four years at St. John's, registered an 83-27 record and his Redmen reached post-season playoffs in all four seasons.

Eastwick, Powell Both Sign With Reds

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pitcher Rawlings Eastwick and shortstop Barry Powell, both selected in the recent baseball draft, have signed with the Cincinnati Reds, scouting director Joe Bowen announced today.

Eastwick, of Hadonfield, N.J., was the Reds' No. 3 choice. Powell, of Pleasanton, Tex., was picked in the sixth round. Both are 18.

Lee Trevino Feels Better Despite Being Ex-Champion

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — Lee Trevino is an ex-champion and not too pleased with it. But the pressure is off and the laughing Latino is his old happy-go-lucky self.

He was noticeably somber and subdued and troubled with an aching left knee last week when he failed to make the cut in defense of his United States Open title, eventually won by Orville Moody.

"It's not the pressure," the merry Mexican said today before teeing off in the first round of the $150,000 Kemper Open Golf Tournament.

"It's the responsibility. I felt a lot of personal responsibility. Now there's a new United States Open champion and I don't feel it so much. I've still got a lot of commitments, but I'm going to take some rest after the British Open."

Trevino, a swarthy, grinning character who leaped into the elite group of golf's magic names with his Open triumph a year ago, as usual, made a joke of his knee problems.

There have been reports he may have to have an operation to correct tendon problems in the left knee, suffered when he stepped on a ball about two months ago. Lee scoffed.

"I've got it all taped up," he said.

"But it all depends on how I'm playing. If I'm playing good, it doesn't bother me. If I'm not playing good, it hurts like hell."

How does it feel now? "Great. It looks like I've got it all back. I'm hitting the driver and the irons good. My putting isn't too good, but I really haven't been trying in practice."

Decathlon Site, Date Changed After Dispute

MIAMI (AP) — The site and date of the National Decathlon Championships has been switched out of concern for competitors, says an AAU official, rather than pressure from three top stars who threatened a boycott.

Hilmer Lodge, the AAU track and field chairman, said Wednesday night the meet was shifted from Salina, Kan., July 4-5 to Bakersfield, Calif., June 27-28.

He said the action was taken solely for the purpose of providing athletes more time between the AAU event and the U.S.-Russian-British Commonwealth meet July 18-19 in Los Angeles.

However, last week three top decathlon performers, including Olympic champion Bill Toomey, complained about the conditions at Salina and the lack of rest time between the AAU event and competition in Los Angeles.

No Special Turf For Cincy Stadium

CINCINNATI (AP) — Looks as though the $44 million riverfront stadium that the Cincinnati Reds and Bengals will call home will have a plain sod field.

Contractors have been told to forget about ideas of artificial turf and go ahead with the sod.

Miss Conna Adios To Face Overcall

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Miss Conna Adios, a 4-year-old filly from Maryland, tries tonight for a major upset in harness racing by beating Overcall in the $50,000 National Championship Pace at Yonkers Raceway.

Overcall, a 6-year-old stallion driven by Del Insko for owner Mrs. Helen Buck of Far Hills, N.J., is unbeaten this year and seems to have the race at his mercy for a sweep of Yonkers $159,500 International Pacing Series.

Off his impressive victories in the 1½-mile International two weeks ago and the 1 mile Good Time Pace last week, Overcall is the logical 1-5 morning line choice to win again tonight, especially since he leaves from the coveted No. 1 post.

'Red' Kelly Slated To Coach Penguins

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette said Wednesday night it has learned that Leonard "Red" Kelly, former head coach of the Los Angeles Kings, will be the new coach of the Pittsburgh Penguins of the National Hockey League.

The paper said Kelly, a forward and defenseman in the NHL for 20 seasons, would be named successor to George "Red" Sullivan early next week.

Football Players 'Go On Strike'

TORONTO (AP) — What management termed a strike by 17 players of the Toronto Argonauts posed the question of what to do about it for the Canadian Football League today.

The players, including quarterback Wally Grier, halfback Bill Symons, the outstanding football player in Canada last year, and pass-catching sensation Bobby Taylor, were suspended Wednesday for failure to report last Monday to pre-season training camp. At least 10 others are liable for suspension Saturday if they fail to report to the Aurora, Ont. camp.

Oakland Smashes Royals, 16-4, 9-2

By MIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer
The Kansas City Royals can't say they weren't warned when Reggie Jackson came to town. He is just not a singles hitter.

Ruth-like Reggie proved it again Wednesday night with two more home runs, his 25th and 26th, in another Oakland onslaught that sent the A's winging to a two-night doubleheader sweep over the Royals 16-4 and 9-2.

Only last weekend, the Royals must have read about Jackson's long-ball prowess in Boston where Oakland scored 38 runs to sweep a three-game series with Reggie hitting four homers and, in one game, driving in 10 runs. Against the Royals, he hit three in four games, giving him nine in the last nine games and 11 for the month of June.

With Jackson and the A's absent, the scoring sloughed off elsewhere in the American League as Baltimore beat Washington 3-1. Minnesota topped California 3-1, the New York Yankees stopped Detroit 4-2, Cleveland edged Boston 2-1 and the Chicago White Sox handled Seattle 7-3 before losing 6-9 in 11 innings in another twinighter. Jackson, with a chance to become the only man other than Babe Ruth to hit 30 homers by the end of June, hit his first homer of the night with a man on in the first game, keying a three-run eruption in the fifth inning that put the A's ahead 7-5. From there it was all downhill as Chuck Dobson coasted to his seventh victory against five defeats.

Jackson also weakened momentarily in the game, settling for a run-scoring single. It was only his 13th single of the season, half of his homer total. He also has 13 doubles and two triples for a .270 batting average.

The Royals tried another approach against the 23-year-old slugger in the nightcap—they hit him with a pitch in the first inning. But the A's went on to score five times in the inning, twice on bases loaded walks and once by another hit batter with the bases loaded.

And when Kansas City went back to pitching to Jackson, he hammered No. 26 in the sixth inning. All that was more than enough for John Odom, 9-3, who scattered nine hits.

In contrast, Baltimore did it again with pitching as Jim Hardin, 3-3, and Dick Hall combined on a four-hitter for the Orioles' sixth straight victory and 26th in 32 games. It was the 11th four-hitter for their staff to go along with three three-hitters, three two-hitters and one one-hitter.

The Orioles managed only five hits, but one was Boog Powell's two-run homer and another was a triple by Paul Blair, who scored on Frank Robinson's sacrifice fly.

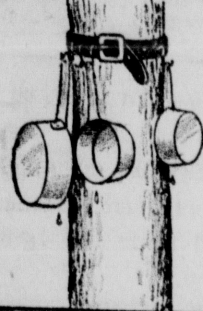

Ray Kaat, 7-5, scattered eight hits for Minnesota and hit a home run, but needed Harmon Killebrew's two-run, tie-breaking double in the eighth inning for his victory.

Top Old Timers Are Named In Baseball All-Star Votes

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball fans have long memories. Joe Cronin, Tris Speaker and Rogers Hornsby, all members of the baseball Hall of Fame, were named to All-Star teams in two cities in a recent vote by fans in major league cities.

Cronin, now the American League president, was picked as shortstop for both the Washington Senators and the Boston Red Sox. Speaker was in the outfield for both the Red Sox and the Cleveland Indians and was selected as Cleveland's greatest player ever by Indian fans.

Hornsby was the second baseman for both the Chicago Cubs and the St. Louis Cardinals.

Willie Mays was picked as the all-time All-Star center fielder for both the New York Giants and the San Francisco Giants.

Fans in 17 major league cities voted for their favorite teams. An all-time All-Star team, as well as the greatest player and greatest manager ever, will be announced on July 21 in Washington on the eve of the annual All-Star Game.

The final team will be selected by baseball writers and sportscasters from names picked by the fans.

The men selected as the greatest players ever in the cities voting were:

National League
Atlanta, Henry Aaron; Chicago, Ernie Banks; Cincinnati, Edd Roush; Los Angeles Dodgers, Sandy Koufax; Brooklyn

Dodgers, Jackie Robinson; Philadelphia, Robin Roberts; Pittsburgh, Honus Wagner; New York-San Francisco Giants, Willie Mays; St. Louis, Stan Musial.

American League
Baltimore, Brooks Robinson; Boston, Ted Williams; Chicago, Luke Appling; Cleveland, Tris Speaker; Detroit, Ty Cobb; California Angels, Jim Fregosi; Minnesota, Harmon Killebrew; New York, Babe Ruth; Washington, Walter Johnson.

ABC To Televis NCAAF Grid Games

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Broadcasting Company has pulled off a coup in television's race to corner the lucrative football market.

It was disclosed Wednesday that the network plunked down something in the neighborhood of $25 million to televise NCAA football games for the 1970 and 1971 seasons.

Sophomore halfback Billy Hunter of Levittown, Pa., returned 13 punts for 247 yards for Army's football team last season.

The New York Yankees will give baseball caps to all youngsters in attendance on May 3 when they play the Baltimore Orioles in New York.

BASEBALL GOODWILL TOUR—University of California's 17-man baseball team is winging its way to Japan for a three-week goodwill tour and JAL hostess Seiko Shimoda welcomes, from left, Tony Murray, Dennis Dalton and Don Wilcox at the airport in San Francisco, Calif.

Paraguay Has Whopping Aid Request For Rockefeller

ASUNCION, Paraguay (AP) — President Alfredo Stroessner's military regime has prepared a whopping foreign aid request for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to take back to President Nixon.

Rockefeller arrives this afternoon for a 23-hour visit to this landlocked Latin American nation of two million persons. He is scheduled to meet Friday with Stroessner.

Stroessner, who took power in 1954, presides over Latin America's oldest dictatorship. He has prepared a memorandum for Rockefeller asking for $115 million in long-term loans to build roads, modernize the national railroad system, construct a ground station for satellite communications and improve public health facilities. He also wants special allowances for sugar and tung oil exports to the United States.

Paraguay, among Latin America's poorest nations, receives $35 million in foreign aid a year, mostly from the United States. Its economy is in bad shape because its imports exceed exports. Last year the deficit was a record $13.9 million.

Rockefeller's visit here promises to be one of the most tranquil on his current tour. Violence has broken out in many of the 11 countries he has visited on a fact-finding mission for Nixon.

Two rival political parties that were allowed to participate in elections for the first time last year have voted to abstain from official ceremonies for Rockefeller. But, all groups, including 6,000 university students, have said Rockefeller the individual will be welcome.

Henley Gets A Reprieve From Death

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Convicted Cincinnati killer Lee Arthur Henley was given a 90-day reprieve by Gov. James A. Rhodes Wednesday.

Henley was scheduled to die in the electric chair in the Ohio Penitentiary next Monday.

The reprieve gives Henley's attorneys until Sept. 26 to file appeals in the case.

The attorneys say they have found new evidence in the June 24, 1964, shooting of Peter Mazes, an assistant grocery market manager.

Henley was convicted in June, 1965, and the jury did not recommend mercy.

Hamilton County Common Pleas Judge Ralph Kohnen overruled the claims of new evidence and refused to grant a new trial for the 23-year-old Cincinnati man.

The evidence centered on a witness to the shooting death. Attorneys said the witness Donald Brandenburg of the Cincinnati suburb of Branch Hill, told them Henley and Mazes had argued and that Henley was thrown to the floor—and then got up and began firing a pistol.

Henley's attorneys told the court that Brandenburg did not speak up after the shooting because he did not want to become involved.

Judge Kohnen said he denied the motion for a new trial after "a careful consideration of the evidence."

The Detroit Tigers tied a record when they scored 10 runs in the third inning of the sixth World Series game.

Al Kaline hit .379 in the World Series for the Detroit Tigers.

SHORT AND SWEET—Southern Illinois University's baseball team, playing in the NCAA college World Series in Omaha, presents a "bat girl" and players with Bermuda-cut short pants and knee-length hose but it didn't help for the Salukis were eliminated by Mississippi.

Top Old Timers Are Named In Baseball All-Star Votes

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball fans have long memories.

Joe Cronin, Tris Speaker and Rogers Hornsby, all members of the baseball Hall of Fame, were named to All-Star teams in two cities in a recent vote by fans in major league cities.

Cronin, now the American League president, was picked as shortstop for both the Washington Senators and the Boston Red Sox. Speaker was in the outfield for both the Red Sox and the Cleveland Indians and was selected as Cleveland's greatest player ever by Indian fans.

Hornsby was the second baseman for both the Chicago Cubs and the St. Louis Cardinals.

Willie Mays was picked as the all-time All-Star center fielder for both the New York Giants and the San Francisco Giants.

Fans in 17 major league cities voted for their favorite teams. An all-time All-Star team, as well as the greatest player and greatest manager ever, will be announced on July 21 in Washington on the eve of the annual All-Star Game.

The final team will be selected by baseball writers and sportscasters from names picked by the fans.

The men selected as the greatest players ever in the cities voting were:

National League
Atlanta, Henry Aaron; Chicago, Ernie Banks; Cincinnati, Edd Roush; Los Angeles Dodgers, Sandy Koufax; Brooklyn

Dodgers, Jackie Robinson; Philadelphia, Robin Roberts; Pittsburgh, Honus Wagner; New York-San Francisco Giants, Willie Mays; St. Louis, Stan Musial.

American League

ABC To Televis

NCAA Grid Games

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Broadcasting Company has pulled off a coup in television's race to corner the lucrative football market.

It was disclosed Wednesday that the network plunked down something in the neighborhood of $25 million to televise NCAA football games for the 1970 and 1971 seasons.

Sophomore halfback Billy Hunter of Levittown, Pa., returned 13 punts for 247 yards for Army's football team last season.

The New York Yankees will give baseball caps to all youngsters in attendance on May 3 when they play the Baltimore Orioles in New York.

WHERE ELSE BUT N.Y.?—Boxing goes outdoors in New York as a gimmick for the Joe Frazier-Jerry Quarry heavy title bout June 23 and Times Square gets a new attraction. In the ring is Frazier (right) sparring.

Highlights in World of Sports

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Winger Craig "Dennis" Clyke of Truro, Nova Scotia, has been acquired by the Columbus Checkers of the International Hockey League.

Clyke, 28, scored 23 goals and 24 assists last year in leading the Brookfield Elks to the championship of the Nova Scotia Hockey League.

NEW YORK (AP) — Sectional qualifying rounds will be held from Aug. 8-12 to select an elite field of 1500 starters in the United States Golf Association's Men's Amateur Championship Aug. 27-30 at the Oakmont Country Club, Oakmont, Pa.

With an anticipated entry of 2,000 including 20-year-old defending champion Bruce Fleisher, only one out of every 13 hopefuls will get a starting berth. The championship is open to men with handicaps of three or less, providing they belong to a USA member club. The entries close on July 23.

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Namath, the controversial New York Jets quarterback, has agreed to meet with pro football Commissioner Pete Rozelle but whether there'll be a meeting of the minds remains to be seen.

The meeting will probably be next week. Rozelle is fishing off the coast of lower California and Namath will be out of town until next week, too.

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Bobby Fields, of Tulsa, Okla., sank a 25-foot chip shot for a birdie 3 and defeated Bill Harman of Greenville, Del., 1 up in 19 holes in Tuesday's first round of match play in the Mid-America Junior Open Golf Tournament.

Tuesday's play over the nearby Possum Run course began with 259 golfers and the number was cut to 96 for today's round.

Carnesecca currently is coach of St. John's University of New York, which won 23 of 29 games last season.

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The signing of four more rookies by the Cleveland Browns leaves only seven of their draftees to be lined up for the 1969 season.

The National Football League club announced the signing of defensive linemen Larry Adams of Texas Christian and Joe Righetti of Wayneburg; guard Greg Shelly of Virginia and running back Dick Davis of Nebraska.

TV Baseball To Host Games, Party

The Teays Valley Youth Baseball League will sponsor a game party Saturday at Ashville Community Park from 8 to 11 p.m. Proceeds will go towards purchase of equipment.

The Donkey Baseball game, which was rained out June 14, will be played June 27 at Teays Valley High School at 8 p.m.

Lost Boy Bounces Back; Had Close Brush With Death

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — Six-year-old Matthew Zimmerman, found barely alive after four days lost in rugged mountain country, is already fretting over confinement in a hospital.

The boy's mother, Harriet Zimmerman said, "He's a real fighter."

"He asked 'Where am I?'" Mrs. Zimmerman said. "I told him he was in the hospital and he told me, 'Get me out of here!'"

Matthew was found unconscious Wednesday in a snowbank two miles from where he wandered away from a family outing Saturday. His heart stopped once en route to a hospital but was massaged back into action.

"I can't believe it, the doctors can't believe it, but it's real—and it's so great!" said Mrs. Zimmerman.

"The two boys who found him did a wonderful job—we're just very lucky people."

A hospital medical report said the boy was suffering from dehydration but had no broken bones or serious injuries.

Matthew was the object of an intensive four-day search by as many as 250 sheriff's deputies, forest rangers and volunteers.

Just hours before the search was to be called off, Matthew was discovered nearly frozen, lying in a snowbank, by two young volunteers, Bill Bremman, 18, and Walter Ferguson, 17, both of San Bernardino.

The boy was rushed to Norton Air Force Base in a Marine helicopter.

During the flight, Matthew's heart stopped, but Deputy Sheriff Oliver Gray and a helicopter crewman used chest massage to get it started again.

Col. Russell C. Payne, commander of the air base hospital, said, "It was extremely fortunate they found him when they did. He probably had only a few more hours to live."

9th Regiment Marines who are being withdrawn from Vietnam in the first redeployment contingent of 25,000 American troops, were attacked twice by North Vietnamese units south of the abandoned Khe Sanh combat base. The Marines lost 10 killed and 20 wounded, while North Vietnamese losses were put at 41 killed.

Military spokesmen said 287 North Vietnamese troops and 39 Americans have been killed in fighting since Sunday in the two northernmost provinces of Quang Tri and Thua Thien. They border the demilitarized zone, Laos and the South China Sea.

Military analysts said the sapper attacks are a relatively new tactic. Where the Communist Command used to commit 500 to 1,000 troops to attack an American base and suffer large casualties, it now uses small elite squads of sappers—commandos trained in weaponry and demolition.

The sappers charge under an artillery barrage, slip into the base, hurl satchel charges at bunkers and equipment, then try to get out. The sappers have often been called "suicide squads" by U.S. officers.

The U.S. Command announced that American battle deaths rose from 252 two weeks ago to 335 last week due to intensified ground fighting and the enemy's continuing rocket and mortar attacks. A total of 516 South Vietnamese government troops were reported killed last week, compared to 457 the previous week.

U.S. and South Vietnamese reports put the number of enemy deaths at 4,360 for the week and raised the previous week's total from 3,930 to 4,035.

U.S., South Vietnam Rip Red Stand At Paris Talks

PARIS (AP) — The United States and South Vietnam accused the other side today of undermining the Vietnam peace talks by demanding the ouster of the Saigon government and by trying to achieve its aims by force and terror.

The charges were made at the 22nd full-scale session of the talks.

Ambassador Lawrence E. Walsh, speaking in the absence of the chief U.S. negotiator, Henry Cabot Lodge, described as inflexible and rigid the attitude of North Vietnam and the Viet Cong-backed provisional revolutionary government. He said it was "blocking the progress here in Paris."

South Vietnam's representative, Pham Dang Lam, said:

"Your attitude clearly lacks the good faith which is essential in all serious negotiations. Perhaps, you wish to arrive at an agreement in which the winner dictates to the loser."

Walsh repeated U.S. demands for mutual withdrawal of all outside troops from South Vietnam, declaring it was not enough for North Vietnam to state that the question of the Vietnamese forces was a matter to be settled by the Vietnamese parties.

Infidelity Blamed

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Johannesburg's Marriage Guidance Society says infidelity is the main cause of marital problems here. Incompatibility and sexual problems are also high on the list of marriage troubles, according to society statistics.

"We will not accept a one-sided withdrawal from South Vietnam," Walsh said.

Referring to the other side's insistence that progress cannot be made in Paris until a provisional coalition government is set up in South Vietnam, Walsh said: "This amounts to saying that you will not enter into meaningful negotiations with our side unless we accept in advance the outcome which you seek. That is a position which seems designed to block progress at these negotiations."

'Ban List' Kept Brown On Track

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — What Ohio Atty. Gen. Paul W. Brown didn't speak about was as interesting as what he did say Wednesday before commissioners and engineers from Ohio's 88 counties.

Brown had a list attached to the back of his speech of topics to avoid. The list read:

1. Permissive County Income Tax (They are against it).
2. A state Income Tax (They are for it if they are guaranteed a share, but the topic is politically dangerous).
3. Education and Schools (Generally, commissioners are irked because of the sizeable share of tax money already going to the schools. Politically dangerous).
4. Department of Public Safety (Sheriffs oppose this, as do most peace officers, and the sheriffs have the ear of the commissioners).
5. Expanding the role of the State Highway Patrol.
